VOWS IN SAUSALITO

Hayden Will Wed Divorcee Tomorrow

Actor Sterling Hayden of Belvedere and divorcee Catherine McConnell of New York will exchange marriage vows at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Sausalito.

They will be married in the home of William A. Pomeroy. Pomeroy said he did not know who witnesses or attendants will be, or whether Hayden's children, who attend schools on the Tiburon peninsula, will attend.

When Mrs. McConnell arrived by air in the Bay Area yesterday, Hayden said the wedding might take place "this week" in Marin, Big Sur or the Sierra.

After Mrs. McConnell arrived, the couple went to the city hall in San Francisco and obtained a marriage license.

At the airport, Mrs. McConnell obviously had not been filled in on a wedding date or place.

When a reporter asked when the wedding was to take place, Hayden replied, "This week." And later, another reporter asked the same question, and Mrs. McConnell said, "Mr. Hayden said this week." Then she added, smiling her happiness, "We'll live here, I love it here."

At the airport, reporters watched for Mrs. McConnell's exit from the first-class passenger door, but she came out the tourist door and was greeted by the handsome, tall actor, who suddenly appeared on the scene.

They embraced and he protectively escorted her from the ramp.

The 28-year-old social register New Yorker and the actor met in the East a month ago. Hayden, 43, was in New York to make a television film.

"Ethan Frome" with actress Julie Harris.

Mrs. McConnell arrived at San Francisco Airport alone, leaving her 8-year-old son, Scott, at school in New York. Hayden's four children attend schools in the Reed Union School District. They started school in February, shortly after their return with their father from a jaunt to the South Seas.

Hayden had made the trip against court orders after a custody squabble with his former wife, Betty Ann De-Neon, in Los Angeles. Later a fine and jail sentence for contempt of court were suspended.

The actor told a group of Sausalito school children recently that he didn't like making motion pictures. Yesterday on his marriage license application he listed his occupation as "seaman."

Quentin Official To Head Iowa's Penal Institutions

Benjamin F. Baer, 42, an associate warden at San Quentin Prison, has been named director of correctional institutions for Iowa.

Baer today said he would be leaving California "with regret," but the new position will offer him "a great opportunity and a great challenge."

From his office in the Capitol in Des Moines, Baer will be in charge of the state's five correctional institutions under the Iowa Board of Control.

The penal worker has been at San Quentin five and one half years. He has been in charge of the classification and treatment of inmates. He governed education of the inmates, both vocational and professional.

al and kept records on religion, social service and counseling.

Baer said he will take up his new duties late in May, thus giving two of his three children a chance to finish out the school year in Marin.

Baer and his wife Frances and their children, Marc, 14, a student at San Rafael High School; Jan, 12, a seventh grader at San Quentin school, and Bartley, five months, live on the prison reservation.

Baer has been with the state Department of Corrections 12½ years. Prior to that he was a member of the Los Angeles County Probation Department.

He was graduated from San Diego State College in 1941 with a bachelor of arts degree with a major in social science. He also attended University of Illinois. He received a master of arts degree in social work from the University of Southern California.

Board Delays Action On School Traffic

Embattled Heather Gardens residents, demanding immediate action to curb speeders on Larkspur's William avenue, last night agreed to wait two weeks while the Tamalpais Union High School board studies new proposals for a second link to the Redwood High School campus.

The proposals, drawn up by Ronald E. Piper, Larkspur city manager, called for a 450-foot extension of Doherty drive to the Arroyo Holon canal.

THREE CHOICES

After the extension is in it would be possible to do any of three things:

1. The canal could be bridged in the vicinity of Redwood's corporation yard to link Doherty with a school service road running to the main part of the campus. The city of Larkspur would build the 450-foot extension, with the school district building the bridge and the service road.

2. Doherty drive could be bridged over the canal and continue on for 950 feet to the campus as a city street. The road would run along the northern boundary of the school site.

THIRD ALTERNATIVE

3. Doherty drive could be continued 950 feet on city-owned property adjacent to the district property. Instead of being bridged at the corporation yard this road would be bridged into the campus at a point closer to the school.

Piper said today the second choice would save money as the district's property is already filled in. He roughly estimated cost for the city to construct the first 450-foot extension at about $15,651; cost to build the road on the district's property at about $44,165, with the bridge costing $7,200.

MORE COST

Cost to build the road on the city-owned property would be about $72,494 with an additional $9,262 for the bridge, he said.

At last night's meeting the board did not make public Piper's figures or details contained in notes each trustee had on the desk in front of him.

Fraak Cassou, the district's director of business services, in explaining Piper's plans, suggested that "heterogeneous traffic" that would be using the road might be a basis for approaching the county for aid.

ASKS ACTION

But a spokesman from Heather Gardens, citing an emergency situation growing day by day on William avenue, called for immediate action by the board to alleviate the congestion.

James J. Lienkaemper of 89 Diane lane said, "We're caught in the middle... confronted by two willing agencies not able to cope with the situation that has developed."

"We've been asking the board for help for a year," and something has to be done now to control the high school student traffic, he said.

A SOCIOLOGIST

From 1947 to 1951 Baer was a sociologist at the San Quentin Prison reception center. In 1951, he went to Sacramento to work in department of corrections headquarters where he was supervisor of inmate classification and parole. He returned to the prison in 1954 as an associate warden.

Baer said a replacement has not been named, and that would be up to Warden Fred R. Dickson and to Richard A. McGee, director of corrections. Baer's new job will be roughly equivalent to that of McGee.

$16,500 A YEAR

He said the job will pay $16,500 a year, compared with the $12,000 he now receives for his work at San Quentin.

Baer is a member of the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco and Marin Lodge 191, F&AM.

He said he was selected for the job after candidates had been narrowed down to a handful by the National Probation and Parole Assn., a private professional organization that did the screening for the state of Iowa.

THERE'S BEEN A CHANGE IN THE WEATHER

Unexpected fast build-up of high barometric pressure has put an end to further immediate rain possibilities, the U.S. Weather Bureau decided today.

It'll be cooler tonight, the forecast said.

Final rain flurries of the recent wet spell provided these figures in Marin for the 24-hour period to 8 a.m. today: Belvedere 28 of an inch, Sausalito 32, Mill Valley 25, Tamalpais Valley 34, Stafford Dam had .26 of an inch for the 24 hours ending at midnight.

Nunes Ranch To Be Annexed To San Rafael

San Rafael city fathers served notice last night they intend to annex to the city the 400-acre Thomas Nunes ranch to the west of Terra Linda.

A public hearing for any protests on the proposed annexation was set for April 18.

The annexation would push the city's boundary northward to Lucas Valley road.

City councilmen decided to go ahead with annexation procedures as recommended by the city planning commission. The planning commission found that since the Freitas ranch was annexed last year, the eventual annexation of all the Gallinas Valley watershed would be logical.

At the same time, city councilmen asked for more information on conditions in Terra Linda, which is also asking for annexation. The council wants to know whether the Freitas parkway ditch is being repaired, and what assets the Terra Linda Community Services District has in the way of improvements and land.

Mayor John F. McNis suggested that the question of whether Terra Linda wants to join San Rafael might be placed on the ballot in November. However, no decision was made last night.

Councilmen promised Joseph R. Gunn III, representing the Terra Linda Community Services District, that his group will be notified when the question comes up again before the city council.

Brown Balks At Death For Dope Peddlers

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today he would veto pending legislation to make the death penalty possible in narcotics cases.

"I will not sign any such bill," Brown told his news conference.

The measure, by Assemblyman Bruce Allen (R-Los Gatos), would make the death penalty an alternative for second offense narcotic peddlers.

URGES ABOLITION

Brown doesn't believe in capital punishment and has proposed its abolition to a special session of the lawmakers.

It was in that special session that Allen introduced his bills to stiffen narcotic violation penalties. He could get them before the Legislature only because of the death penalty provision.

Brown also tossed a charge of "fiscal irresponsibility at its worst" at Republican demands for a 45-million-dollar cut in state taxes.

HITS COMMITTEE

The Democratic governor spoke sharply, too, of a Democratic-dominated Senate committee for approving bills which call for tax reductions of from 14 to 20 million dollars.

He told his news conference: "It does seem to me that reducing taxes before we see what we need is not good government."

Brown referred to the fact that the Legislature has taken no action as yet on his $2,500,000,000 budget for 1960-61.

He did not say what he would do in the event the bills reach his desk for signature or veto. They would remove medicines from the state sales tax and trim income taxes by nearly 5 million dollars. (See story on page 7.)

LASHES GOP

The governor hit at the position taken by the state convention of the California Republican Assembly over the weekend.

He said it was very significant that the chief speaker was former Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

"Senator Bricker probably represents the old guard and that's indicative of the leadership of the Republican party in California at the present time," he said.

Brown also took notice of a Republican Assembly demand that he call a special session to remove alleged inequities from his $1,750,000,000 water bond act.

The governor emphasized that a Republican Legislature and Republican governor tried vainly for six years to put through a water program. Now that he has succeeded in getting the bond issue on the ballot, he said the Republicans are dissatisfied without specifying what they want.

Liberal Bloc Aims To Halt Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nineteen Democratic senators who rate themselves as liberals decided today to try to choke off a Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), spokesman for the group, indicated a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-closing rule may be filed later in the day or tomorrow.

Members of the group said they were advised that under the rules, if the petition were filed Wednesday, it would come to a vote at 1 a.m. Friday if the Senate then still were in round-the-clock session.

Bails Out For 2nd Time In 4 Months

A Hamilton Air Force Base pilot, flying a missile-carrying F104 Starfighter, parachuted safely—for the second time in four months—as his plane crashed yesterday in a field 35 miles south of Modesto.

The two-wing-tip, air-to-air sidewinder missiles carried by the Starfighter break up without exploding when a plane crashes, a Hamilton public information officer said.

Second Lt. James R. Allander Jr., 29, of 1583 Hill street, Novato, had engine trouble after take off from Castle Air Force Base near Merced on his way back to Hamilton. He ejected from the plane at 5,000 feet and was picked up by California Highway patrolmen.

The sidewinder missiles are carried on all exercise missions, the public information officer said.

The spokesman said Allander was unhurt.

Last November, Allander and another flier bailed out safely as their F104—a two-place version of the Starfighter—crashed into San Pablo Bay about a half mile from the south end of the main runway at Hamilton. They were rescued by an amphibious plane minutes after hitting the water.

Hamilton reported a board of investigation would be formed today to investigate the cause of yesterday's accident.

Allander left Hamilton Sunday.

day on a training mission, stayed overnight at Castle—about a 12-minute jet trip from Hamilton—then took off for his home base yesterday afternoon.

A bachelor, Allander is attached to the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. His parents live in Garberville, Humboldt County.

Dedication Rites Start At Baptist Seminary

"I am convinced that our present government and way of life is being threatened by a subtle, cunning atheistic ideology—communism."

Guy Rutland Jr., Georgia state senator and a trustee of Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, made this declaration today in the principal address of the first of three days of dedication ceremonies for the seminary's Strawberry campus.

People can fight this menace, Rutland said, if they think, talk and vote. "If you think and talk about these things, you can vote," he said. "I think it is very necessary to protect this precious right of ours."

"We should think and talk and vote while we can, because, remember this, in communism, none of these things are possible."

The Georgia lawmaker said, "I'm afraid there is a fifth column infiltration which is directed by our enemies which must be realized before it destroys us."

Rutland said the first two atomic bombs that were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki would have paid the expenses of 40,000 missionaries in the world for 30 years.

"Spreading love of the savior would have made World War II a practical impossibility. There just wouldn't have been enough hate to make the war possible," he asserted.

The senator joked about having taken Vice President Richard M. Nixon's speaking place at the ceremony. Nixon had been invited to give the main address but had wired he would be unable to do so, because of other commitments.

Rutland said, "I'm a life-long Democrat... The man I'm replacing is going to be the new head of the Republican Party. I differ with him on a lot of things. One thing we do stand on common ground is in his message. We Democrats always promptly."

Paar Returns To TV—Runs Into Censor Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar made a triumphant return to his NBC television show last night. Within an hour the tart-tongued comedian had talked himself into censorship again.

On Feb. 11, Paar walked off the show after the network had cut almost five minutes out of a taped broadcast without notifying him. The matter eliminated was a joke which NBC said was in bad taste. Shortly thereafter, Paar and NBC officials made peace.

Two network vice presidents were on hand last night and conferred with Paar immediately after the show was taped. An hour later, the network announced Paar had "agreed to the omission of a brief personal reference."

When the tape was broadcast, it was evident shortly after midnight that the brief personal reference was a 10-word reference to columnist Walter Winchell made during a vitriolic attack on the press, and the Hearst newspapers in particular.

Paar, who returned last week from a trip to the Orient, said as he warmed up: "Walter Winchell, this silly old man—who under oath could not admit, under oath, that he writes his own columns completely—sometimes days go by and he doesn't write them—has never said a word about me in a year and a half when I was here to defend myself."

"As soon as I left and he thought I was not returning, he started all kinds of vicious innuendo about the show, about payola, about my virility. As a moral man, Mr. Winchell, my virility is only known by my wife."

At this point, the screen and sound flickered past the censored part and picked up again as Paar continued: "I have found that behind every commercial censor, every commercial censor, there is a lecherous mind."

Paar went on with attacks on his press critics and the Hearst press.

In Hollywood, Winchell said in reply: "The other day Paar told the New York press that I'm a senile old man. Now he says I'm a lecher. Now could I be both?"

Hundreds of Paar fans turned up at NBC to welcome back their hero.

100,000 Vote Turnout Seen In N.H. Today

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The farflung, intricate mechanics of choosing a President of the United States reached the ballot box stage today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls in the nation's first presidential primary.

Voting places generally opened at 7 a.m. and in the cities close as late as 8 p.m. A surprise snowfall ranging from one to three inches blanketed most of the state during the early morning hours. However, town meetings and an angry last-minute clash brought estimates of a total vote of more than 100,000.

That is only a handful by comparison with the millions of ballots still to be cast in forthcoming primaries. But politically, New Hampshire is a midget with a heavyweight's punch.

Today's election brings the first actual indication of voter sentiment into the presidential outlook, as distinct from polls, straw votes, and the calculated optimism of politicians.

Indirectly, it pitted Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon against Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The board's decision will be part of the biggest textbook adoption in California history, 7,910,000 volumes. Fifty-three separate titles are involved from 48-page primers to 600-page readers.

Negroes Claim Win In Lunch Counter Drive

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro demonstrators claimed a victory in North Carolina today as the growing anti-segregation campaign entered its sixth week and spread into the eight Southern states.

Students seeking equal eating facilities at traditionally segregated lunch counters were served while seated in two North Carolina cities yesterday. Apparently it was the first time this had happened in the state where the current wave of sit-downs started.

The first demonstration in West Virginia took a new form. Students paraded at a motion picture theater protesting segregated seating arrangements.

ELEVEN ARRESTED

In Houston, Tex., the sit-downs spread from drug stores to a supermarket lunch counter. Service was refused and the counter area roped off. No trouble was reported.

Eleven Negroes were arrested for trespassing in Petersburg, Va., after they occupied a section reserved for white persons in the city library and refused to leave.

Some 700 students at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., planned a one-day boycott of classes today as an expression of sympathy for nine Negro students expelled from Alabama State College at Montgomery for taking part in demonstrations.

PRAYER SERVICE

HUNG BY HEELS

Whites Terrorize Negro In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Four masked white youths hung a Negro man from a tree by his heels last night and scratched two series of KKKs into his chest and stomach after beating him with chains, the Negro told police.

Felton Turner, 27, said he freed himself from ropes around his ankles and wrists and staggered to a nightwatchman's shack to telephone police.

A doctor at Jefferson Davis Hospital said Turner was treated and released this morning. The six Ks ranged from one and one-half inches to three inches in length and went from Turner's chest to his stomach, the doctor said. Rope marks were on the Negro's wrists and ankles.

Police said Turner told them he was walking near his home in a Negro residential area at 10:15 p.m. when two masked white youths leaped from a car and grabbed him. They carried guns and forced him into the back seat of a sedan.

Two other masked white youths were in the front seat, Turner told officers.

Turner said he struggled to free himself but the youths gagged him and beat him to the floor with chains.

They took him to a wooded area where he was tied and hung from the tree by his heels, he said. There the beat him with chains and rope, cut off his jacket and shirt and scratched the Ks on his stomach and chest with a knife.

Turner, unemployed, told police that a red-haired youth in the front of the car told him they were hired to do a job because of publicity Texas Southern University Negro students received over sit-ins at a lunch counter at Houston in the past few days.

A group of students from the all-Negro university staged their first sit-in Friday at a lunch counter in a supermarket. The sit-ins spread to a drug store Saturday and a third store yesterday. All were peaceful.

Castro Charges Labeled 'Irresponsible' By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In blunt language rarely heard in the polite world of diplomacy, the United States has accused Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro of "extremely provocative" and "irresponsible" charges against this country.

The angry protest was in answer to Castro's accusation Saturday that U.S. officials may have been responsible for the death-dealing explosion of a European munitions shipment Friday in Havana harbor.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter called this "baseless, erroneous and misleading."

Herter delivered the dressing down personally to the Cuban charge d'affaires, Enrique Patterson, and immediately made the text of his remarks available to newsmen.

The Cuban, clearly upset by the 20-minute session in Herter's office, left the State Department hurriedly. He said he would report Herter's statement to Castro without comment.

Herter wound up his statement by saying, "This government finds itself increasingly obliged to question the good faith of your excellency's government with respect to a desire for improved relations between our governments."

In Havana, Cuban television commentators read Herter's remarks on the air in mocking tones, smiling at certain passages and then adding the editorial comment that the United States is an aggressor.

Farm Boy Turns $5 Worth Of Junk Into Scholarship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A modest Minnesota farm boy has turned $5 worth of junk, including a float from a pig watering trough and a Christmas ornament, into a $7,500 college scholarship.

The scholarship, the nation's highest science prize for high school students, was awarded last night by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation at a banquet here marking the end of the 1960 science talent search.

Four other scholarships, ranging from $6,000 to $3,000, were awarded to other high school seniors, the cream of a crop of 40 finalists who spent five days in Washington while judges chose the top winners.

First place winner Jerome G. Spitzner, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Spitzner of St. James, Minn., took top honors with a spherical ion accelerator, an elaborate device used in atomic research.

COMMISSIONER HONORED—Thomas W. Peryam (seated), Marin County agricultural commissioner who retires April 1 after 28 years service, received an honorary life membership in the county Farm Bureau yesterday at a surprise luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. Standing are Richard Straw (left), deputy agricultural commissioner, and Donald McIsaac, Farm Bureau president.

SURPRISE FETE

Farm Group Honors Peryam At Luncheon

A group of the farmers Thomas W. Peryam has served in his 28 years as Marin County agricultural commissioner wished him "many happy years of retired life" at a surprise luncheon yesterday in Rickey's Rancho Rafael at Ignacio.

Peryam was honored by directors of the Marin County Farm Bureau, who presented him with an honorary lifetime membership in the bureau. The commissioner will retire April 1.

Donald McIsaac, president of the farm bureau, said the members wanted to show their appreciation for Peryam's help and support in past years.

William Wright told the members that Peryam "probably has done more for Marin County agriculture than any man in the county."

Richard Straw, deputy agricultural commissioner, who has been rumored in line to be Peryam's successor, spoke of the commissioner's "clear-cut, concise manner in dealing with things. . . . He doesn't hem or haw around."

And Supervisor William Gnos observed "Tom has been most cooperative with the board and farmers. Anytime you have a problem, Tom was on your side."

Peryam told the bureau members he took over the job of commissioner 28 years ago in a trying time. He was the first out-of-county man appointed to a permanent job in Marin County, he said.

The commission expressed appreciation for the lifetime membership and "your friendship for 28 years. I hope it continues 28 years more."

Before gathering for the surprise luncheon, bureau directors met at their office for a business session.

Lewis Nye, Stinson Beach Water District superintendent and former rancher, brought up the case of rancher Joseph Fagundes, who was jailed recently for letting his cattle roam on state roads.

Members decided to ask County Counsel Leland H. Jordan to speak at their April 4 meeting on the law involved in such situations.

Nye declared that it was not easy for a man to keep his cattle off the road, even if he wanted to. "Here in Marin County you had better get out of the cattle business. They're apt to contest any movement cattle might make," he said.

"It's a doggone poor situation for a cattleman who has been here all his life," Nye said of the Fagundes arrest.

Supervisor Gnos reported petitions have been circulating all over the county requesting the board of supervisors not to take a stand on the issue of the proposed Pt. Reyes national recreation area. "We've ordered a geographical survey and want to remain neutral until we get all the facts," he said.

"It proves to you farmers that the group for the park is really working for it. . . . It will be a hot issue," he said.

Bureau members were asked to suggest candidates for the dairy princess contest to be held April 9 in Petaluma, sponsored by District 3 of the California Dairy Assn., which includes Marin. Entrants must be single and between 17 and 25.

State Water Picture Is Still Gloomy

SACRAMENTO — March will have to produce an exceptional string of rain storms to avert the state's second dry year in a row, the state Department of Water Resources said today.

A department spokesman said this month is critical in the state's water harvest, "and if we don't get a good March, then the summer and fall will be much drier than last year."

Several state and federal reports and forecasters are due this week to update their estimates of the water situation, but many experts are gloomy in advance.

On the brighter side, the weather bureau's 30-day forecast for March calls for heavy rains over much of the state. Next week this prediction also will be brought up to date.

Victor Herbert not only wrote his immortal songs, but also did his own arrangements for orchestras to play those songs.

Film Industry Braces For Long Strike

HOLLYWOOD — A star-studded actors' strike went into a second day today with both sides predicting a long, costly and—as they say in Hollywood—colossal battle.

At the heart of the dispute was an old movie bogeyman: Television.

The 14,000-member Screen Actors Guild wants extra pay for television showings of post-1948 films.

The strike has shut down production at seven studios. Among the 5,000 workers idled: Marilyn Monroe, Fred Astaire, Bing Crosby, Elizabeth Taylor and Alan Ladd.

NO PICKETS
Like this tinsel town itself, the strike had its uncommon aspects: No picket lines, no demonstrations and some production continued.

Some, like Frank Sinatra and Tony Curtis, wore two hats—producer and actor—and backed the strikers. Their independent companies have signed contracts with the guild.

Others actors, Debbie Reynolds and Glenn Ford among them, oppose the strike.

LILI DISSENTS
One dissenter, German actress Lili Palmer, voiced the strike-bound studios' position: "I don't think we deserve to get paid twice for what we got paid for in the first place."

A guild spokesman said the real issue is not double payment for services but the pot o' gold called pay TV. The actors want to set a contract precedent to share in some of the expected wealth.

The guild predicts that a film made exclusively for a pay television showing could return 10 times its cost in a single evening. They want to lay the groundwork now to have actors' pay scaled to the fantastic profits if and when pay TV comes.

Planners Again Refuse Permit For Illegal Deck

Six months' loss of rent in a Tamalpais Valley apartment building were balanced against "six months of unnecessary exasperation" for officialdom in an acrimonious interchange yesterday between George Molander, acting for Francisco Sales Co., and Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of the Marin County Planning Commission.

Permit for an illegally built deck was again denied.

Mrs. Azevedo, like Mrs. Vera L. Schultz of the Marin County Board of Supervisors at a recent courthouse session, was irked with Molander's failure to remove a deck constructed without permit beside a new eight-apartment building on Maple street near Shoreline highway.

Molander's view in both meetings was that it's a fine, useful deck, and to take it down would cost his firm $1,000.

The supervisors had thrown this long-argued problem back to the planners for reconsideration as to whether some or all of the deck could be retained. The planning staff had come up with a proposed compromise. But it was brought out that the deck was not yet changed, nor had much been done to obey another order for removal of a storage wall.

"This deck is not an eyesore and I've had six months loss of rent," said Molander, who has been able to put into use only five of eight apartments.

"You put it up illegally and the county has been put to six months of exasperation," retorted Mrs. Azevedo. "As a matter of principle I move denial. The original order was removal of the deck. I suggest it be taken down and start over again."

The denial will be before the supervisors for review again at 2 p. m. next Tuesday.

Several Marin Dogs Win Honors At Oakland Show

Mrs. Phyllis Tworuk of Black Point is the proud owner of the best miniature dog in last Sunday's Oakland Kennel Club dog show.

Ch. Christ the Fiddler, a miniature poodle, was also judged the best in variety. Another winner (best of breed class) owned by Mrs. Tworuk was her German shorthair pointer, Ch. Erenreich's Beau v. Gardsburg.

Also a best of breed winner in the show of 1300 entries was Ch. Rukan Dinn Kahn of Shamalan, an Afghan hound owned by A. F. Becker of San Rafael.

Telephone Company Promotes Marinite

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. today announced promotion of John C. Giampaoli of 415 Pinewood drive, Marinwood.

Giampaoli, formerly a unit supervisor in the company's disbursement accounting office in San Francisco, has been named staff accountant in the same department.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murgatroyd of San Anselmo had three winners, all rare Irish water spaniels. Seventh Heaven's Shamus was best of breed and Seventh Heaven's Serenity was judged best opposite. Judged best opposite for a West Highland white was Whitebrier Jiminey.

Lucky Boy of Sheltie-Bel, a Belgian sheepdog owned by Miss Janine Peters of San Geronimo, was also best of breed.

A Rottweiler named Una von Garatshausen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Kunney of Mill Valley was judged best of breed. Flaming Fluff Pitty Patte, owned by Mrs. Golda M. Carlsen of Novato, was best of breed and best local Pomeranian.

An international champion, but not recognized by the American Kennel Club because of its rarity in America, was Ch. Elvyn Bluepencil Terror, an Australian Terrier owned by retired Brig. Gen. F.H.B. Ingall of Belvedere. His dog was best in the miscellaneous class.

And Supervisor William Gnos observed "Tom has been most cooperative with the board and farmers. Anytime you have a problem, Tom was on your side."

Peryam told the bureau members he took over the job of commissioner 28 years ago in a trying time. He was the first out-of-county man appointed to a permanent job in Marin County, he said.

A HUNT FOR MISSING MISSILES

Capt. Guy Sherrill of Castle Air Force Base watches while an airman probes gingerly into a 13-foot crater dug by an F104 Starfighter yesterday when it plunged from 15,000 feet into the ground near Modesto. Two missing Sidewinder missiles were being sought, but today the Air Force said the missiles break up without exploding when a plane crashes. The pilot of the plane, Lt. James R. Allander Jr. of Hamilton Air Force Base, bailed out and was uninjured. See story on page 1. (AP Wirephoto)

State Seeks Permit For Launching Ramp

An Army permit for construction of a concrete boat launching ramp at the west end of the Black Point Bridge over the Petaluma River is sought by the California Department of Fish and Game after months of planning for facilities to be maintained and ultimately to be owned by Marin County.

The permit application shows that the proposed structure would be 12 feet wide, 115 feet long, with its end toward the channel about 170 feet shoreward from the edge of the navigation channel and on state-owned lands.

Novak Wins 1st Round In Hot Divorce Fight

Mrs. Maria Novak, 38-year-old wife of wealthy Novato developer John E. Novak, lost temporary custody of her two sons and was ousted from her palatial Trumbull Estates mansion by a court order issued at noon today by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Mrs. Novak, who has been living in the 22-room mansion and getting $500 per month temporary support, was allowed to retain custody of her 16-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

She also will get $400 per month temporary support, on which she will have to find quarters and sustenance. Novak will continue to make payments on her car.

Raymond L. Hanson of San Francisco, attorney for the 41-year-old Novak, announced his client intended to move into the mansion at 50 Rica Vista this afternoon.

Mrs. Novak, expressing shock at the court order, referred all questions to her attorney, Berwyn M. Rice.

Attorney Rice said he has no idea where his client would make her home from this afternoon. "This thing has hit us right between the eyes," he said.

Rice declared he would appeal the order to a higher court to stay execution of the order. He said he did not expect any trouble at the Novak home today, but he would take all legal steps to try to retain the home and custody of the two boys for Mrs. Novak.

Judge Keating granted her visitation rights with her two sons for two days and a night each midweek.

The judge also allowed attorney Rice $2,500 in counsel fees and $1,123 in costs.

The temporary custody battle ended at noon today, but the main divorce fight over permanent settlement of property is still pending. No date has been set for this legal battle as yet.

This morning, Novak's attorney called Allen W. Chaffin, manager of Casa Lu Al Motel in Napa, to the stand to back up Novak's contention that his wife had spent one night at the motel with R. W. Jack, Lake Tahoe card dealer. Chaffin presented a motel register showing that a Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Jack had registered there in 1954.

Quick Arrest In Check Case

A Roseville tile setter, suspected of buying a brand new car from Bianco Motors in San Rafael with a down payment of $455 in bad checks last night, was nabbed in Rafael Meadows less than an hour after he had driven off with his new convertible.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa identified the suspect as James David Miller, 26, who is wanted on a felony check complaint in Roseville.

The chief said cooperation among police in Roseville and San Rafael and the Marin sheriff's office led to the quick arrest. Miller was held in Marin County Jail for Roseville authorities, with a "hold" by San Rafael police.

About 4:45 p.m. yesterday, Roseville police alerted San Rafael that Miller was here to buy a new car. Officer A. M. Newman checked Bianco Motors, just 10 minutes after Miller had driven off in the new car.

An hour later, sheriff's deputies spotted the car at a home in Rafael Meadows and called San Rafael police. The car was returned to Bianco Motors.

dents speeding on and littering William avenue, said Lienkaemper.

Dr. Delman D. Smith, chairman of the board, suggested that the residents approach the Larkspur City Council for help, saying "they (the students) are part of your community, too."

Lienkaemper countered that they had just finished talking to the City of Larkspur and were told, "There is nothing we can do . . . We are caught in the middle."

Smith said he was open to suggestions and "most sympathetic." He said the discipline problem of the youngsters was a parental one and yet the board was "legally and morally responsible."

One woman stood up and blurted, "The ball goes back and forth . . . Nobody wants to catch it."

Smith said the school had no authority outside its limits. "We are doing our very best . . . everything we can . . . We want harmony," he declared.

Sausalito Slates Parking Meeting

There will be a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Sausalito City Hall at which time City Councilman George E. Keeney and City Attorney John B. Ehlen will be available to discuss with prospective bidders the development of public parking facilities between Bridgeway and Humboldt avenue.

A meeting set for last night was postponed because the city attorney was unable to attend.

Keeney said they will try at tomorrow's meeting to break down the specifications for local Sausalito bidders so that several of them might go together in the development of the parking facilities to handle about 600 automobiles.

Meetings will begin at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Christine Hauge, 814 E street, San Rafael.

Boat Crash Into Dock Still Puzzles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There still was no explanation today of why an unmanned motorboat chugged across the bay from Oakland and crashed into the Coast Guard dock at Yerba Buena Island yesterday.

The Coast Guard said the 35-foot craft was owned by Billy R. Hurd, 35, of San Jose. He said he hadn't been aboard for four days and the boat was supposed to be moored in Oakland.

The Coast Guard suggested someone stole it and fell overboard.

ASKS PATROL

Lienkaemper suggested a patrol similar to that used to see school children across streets, to augment the City of Larkspur's patrol of the area. But Supt. Chester G. Carlisle stressed that the district had no legal right to pay for such a patrol.

Trustee Wallace Hayes suggested that when Lucky drive is reopened, possibly in late April, it be made "mandatory for some students to use Lucky and others to use William avenue," splitting the load carried through Heather Gardens.

FEASIBLE

Redwood High School Principal Howard Kreps said this plan was highly feasible.

Two unidentified residents suggested that signs warning of $50 fines for litterbugging be posted in the area. They claimed students scattered old lunch bags and debris up and down the street.

Reed Trustees Meet Tonight

BUSINESS-LODGE BLOCK FOR ELKS' CORNER

Directors of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, decided a few months ago to put the lodge property at Fifth avenue and B street up for sale. But some members of the lodge have come forward with an alternate proposal: A new building to turn the corner into a revenue producer. This sketch, by designer Robert W. F. Severin, shows what might result: A three-story building, with business rentals on the first floor, parking on the second floor and an Elks Club of 25,000 to 30,000 square feet on the third floor.

San Rafael Councilmen Slate C Street Work

San Rafael's C street, between Third street and Mission avenue, will be reconstructed at a cost of about $33,000, the city council decided last night. Bids will be opened on the night of March 21 at the city hall.

Councilmen also asked Public Works Director Norris Rawles to draw up plans and specifications to extend Union street from Mission avenue to Third street. Cost on this job is estimated at $30,000.

Councilmen asked City Manager Dan E. Andersen to contact owners of an apartment house and the American Legion Hall to work out a sharing of the cost of the street. Union street extension would run alongside the legion hall, an apartment building and the city's firehouse No. 2. The rest of the property along the road is owned by the city and the San Rafael High School District.

The school district has agreed to share in the cost, either with a land swap or cash contribution.

23 County Aides Get Raises On Supervisors' Approval

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today approved four appointments, promoted one person and raised the salaries of 23 other county employees.

James C. Law was promoted from appraiser to senior appraiser in the assessor's office, from $505 to $530 a month.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply lower today in active trading. Prices were at the day's lows after a recovery drive faltered.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,300,000 shares compared with 2,900,000 yesterday.

Key stocks fell from fractions to two or more points. A few selected issues made wider declines. The market was lower in early trading but steadied around mid session. It lost ground steadily thereafter.

Fire Volunteers' Decision To Give Up Pay Praised

The Tiburon Fire Protection District board last night unanimously approved the decision of the volunteers to give up their fire and drill pay for two years, retroactive to December, 1959.

The board voted to send a letter of commendation to the volunteer fire department for its action.

Commissioners voted to change the equipment insurance deductible clause from $100 to $250, at a saving to the district of $95 a year. They also approved a new volunteer, Carmine Petty.

Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher reported volunteers are holding two drills a month instead of one.

North Marin To Negotiate For Water

Representatives of the North Marin Water District will continue negotiations on a contract to buy Russian River water from the Sonoma County Flood Control District at an all-day meeting tomorrow at Santa Rosa.

Attending the session will be North Marin Manager Jerome B. Gilbert, attorney Frederick Bold, engineer T. C. Binkley, staff members of the Sonoma County group, and representatives of the City of Petaluma which also is negotiating to buy Russian River water.

"We appear to be reaching the conclusion of negotiations," Gilbert said. Discussions now are centering on terms of payment and provisions for expansion of facilities, he said.

The agreement will provide additional water for North Marin through a viaduct from the Russian River to Santa Rosa to Petaluma and then on to Novato. Stafford Lake is now North Marin's only water source.

House Unit Passes Housing Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats rammed a billion-dollar housing bill through the House Banking Committee today over opposition of Republicans who denounced it as an "irresponsible spending" measure.

The vote was 18 to 7. Only one Republican—Rep. Paul A. Fino (N.Y.)—supported the measure. No Democrats voted against it.

The administration-opposed "emergency" measure would tap the treasury for one billion dollars to give home building a shot in the arm.

Corte Madera Civic Center Dispute Ends

The great debate over an apartment house "threat" to Corte Madera's future civic center ended with surprising suddenness at last night's town council meeting.

By unanimous vote, the council agreed to issue an apartment building permit to G. B. Cunningham, owner of a lot previously designated as part of the civic center site. The land is north of Tamalpais drive, behind the town hall annex.

ACTION RESCINDED

The council rescinded its action of Feb. 15 directing Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow to "take the necessary steps to acquire" the Cunningham property.

What prompted the change of heart was unofficial agreement that the ideal place to locate a proposed public safety building would be south of Tamalpais drive, near Highway 101. The structure would house the fire and police departments.

Brandow recommended that the council "not take a firm position" on the central station until it has heard from the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department. The council agreed.

1959 RECOMMENDATION

The volunteers last year recommended construction of a fire substation in the rapidly growing subdivision area east of the 101 Freeway. But Brandow said they may change their position and support the concept of a centralized public safety building.

Councilmen Edward W. Colthurst and Albert E. Kogler of the police and fire committee conferred last Tuesday with E. C. Adams, district engineer for the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau. Adams strongly supported the idea of one central station and hinted it might reduce the town's class six fire rating, Colthurst reported.

In a follow-up letter, Adams offered the opinion that "maintenance of the present fire station and the construction of a secondary, or residential, station would be very unsatisfactory, not only for the present needs of your city but also for its future growth."

FINANCING DISCUSSED

He said the proposed central site (south and west of Madera boulevard's intersection with Tamalpais drive) "gives excellent distribution to all points within your city, both for high-value mercantile, industrial and residential areas."

The council discussed ways of setting aside money for purchase of the undeveloped site. Noting that so-called building funds often are diverted to other uses, Councilman William R. Hansen inquired, "Can we put this money into a fund we can't get our cotton pickin' hands on?"

"We have an encumbrance system now, so it would be safe," replied Town Clerk Naydeen Penny.

Belvedere Hands Tideland Home Issue Back To Planners

The Belvedere City Council failed to act last night on the controversial proposal for home development on the western tidelands of Belvedere Island.

The council referred the matter back to the planning commission for further study on the feasibility of amending the city ordinance which specifies that a subdivision cannot be built on "dangerous or inundated lands."

The council stipulates that the subdividers, Belvedere Properties, Inc., was not to consider lack of council action as approval of the tentative map unless the council again fails to take action at its meeting of April 4.

The delay followed a bombshell presented by the Belvedere Properties Assn. in the form of an initiative petition which "requires that all of the privately-owned tideland within the city limits of Belvedere be condemned for the purpose of establishing a park and natural recreation area which shall be maintained in its natural state in perpetuity."

Stephen A. Garin, secretary-treasurer of the Belvedere Property Owners Assn., asked "the City of Belvedere to declare its intention of condemning all of the tidelands and of establishing the proposed assessment district with exterior boundaries measured by the city limits of the City of Belvedere."

Mayor Robert P. Watkins asked Howard Allen of Belvedere Properties, Inc., representative "What value do you place on the western tideland strip?" Allen replied he could not answer because "we have not established a value on it."

The planning commission was also asked by Councilman E. G. (Ned) Weed to study the feasibility of "changing the zoning ordinance to prohibit building houses on stilts."

The earlier part of the meeting was spent in examination of the opinion by City Atty. William H. MacKay that tideland area is "dangerous or inundated" and therefore the proposed subdivision is illegal. The developers' attorney, Morris Erskine, disagreed with the opinion and called it "illegal and unenforceable" because "if there is inundation, you do not have to remove the inundation... you have to take protective measures to make it safe."

MacKay had ruled that the only exception that could be granted was one "guaranteeing removal of the inundation by filling the land." Erskine countered, "If you remove the inundation, you remove the necessity of the exception."

Belvedere resident Carl Hoppe, an attorney, said: "The zoning ordinance precludes development of houses on piles... People do not want houses on stilts; the ordinance and state statutes precludes this as do the state courts... We should not give the developers the time of day on this program."

The more than 60 spectators clapped.

Leland Connick, president of the Belvedere Property Assn., urged the council to read the many letters submitted to them "expressing the opinion of the people of Belvedere." He added: "This project should not be considered strictly within or without the ordinance. This is so important that the request of the people of Belvedere should be considered."

Allen countered that the petition to condemn the tidelands area "is a move on the part of a few people whose property is adjacent to it."

In other action, the council granted a taxi franchise to operate within the City of Belvedere to Charles T. Cohen, and gave the first reading of the ordinance amending the building ordinance.

HALLINAN BUCKING THE ODDS IN HIS CAMPAIGN AGAINST DOGS

Vincent Hallinan, onetime presidential hopeful, stands to fare no better on his proposal to outlaw dogs in his hometown of Ross than he did in attempting to carry the town for the Independent Progressive Party in the 1952 election.

Hallinan last week addressed a letter to the town Council urging that dogs be outlawed because they not only litter sidewalks and front yards but also run down and mutilate deer.

But he's up against the fact that four of the five town councilmen are dog owners.

Councilman John Witter has owned a Labrador for 11 years. Councilman Henry C. Scott has had a Terry blue-cocker cross for five years. Councilman James McNab's pet is "just dog." Councilman Bruce Selfridge is the fourth canine owner.

Only dogless member of the Ross Town Council is Mayor Arthur Kanzee Jr.

Asked to comment on Hallinan's campaign to rid Ross of dogs, Mayor Kanzee replied with a masterpiece of cautious diplomacy:

"The council is always interested in any constructive criticism the townspeople may have."

Planners Clear The Way For Tiburon Parking Lot Project

Fred G. Zelinsky, who plans to confer the boon of a 150-space parking lot on small but congested Tiburon, was granted permission by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday to move and relocate three cottages as part of this program.

The cottages, on Main street, are to be moved to lots east of the Cove Players building, which is in a "planned commercial" district. The planning staff felt that "general improvement" would result from the relocation.

The commission continued to March 21 Milton McDonogh's application to build a two-story office building without on-site parking at 21 Main street.

The commission also:

1. Denied use of two already manufactured 90-square-foot signs at Scotty's Market in Terra Linda, finding no parallel in a recent authorization of larger signs for a firm seeking to attract business off Highway 101.

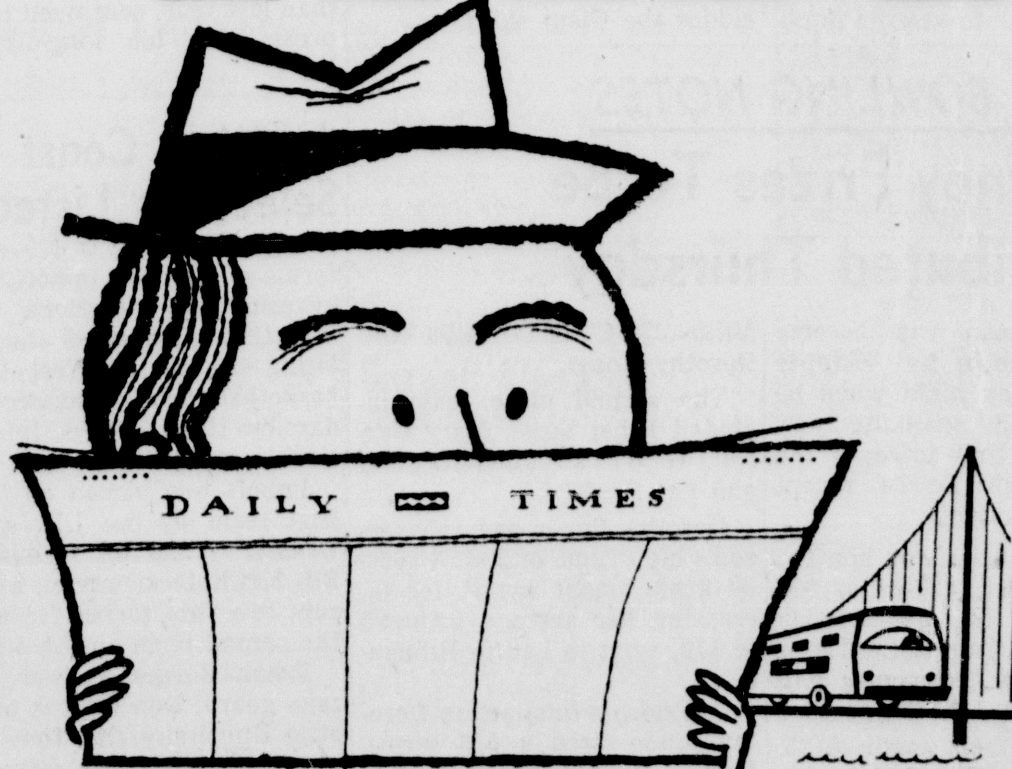

2. Ordered the planning staff to prepare a "priority list" indicating actions planned against violators of the sign ordinance. Training of new employees, it was reported, has deferred enforcement.

3. Approved William A. Azevedo's plans for an 800-foot-square addition to a service station on the Meyers property in California Park area, east of San Rafael.

4. Continuation to March 21 consideration of tentative maps of Marin City Redevelopment Project Units 2 (seven acres) and 3 (4.2 acres).

5. Approved architectural supervision for Marin Home Investment Co. office building on Shoreline highway west of Tennessee Valley road, and addition to Ross Valley Dental Building, Sir Francis Drake boulevard and Butterfly lane, Kentfield.

Rigney On Spot, But Expects His Classy Pitchers To Get Him Off

PHOENIX—"I'm on the spot and I know it."

Those are the words of Bill Rigney, manager of the S. F. Giants, told to me today in an exclusive interview.

Rigney made no bones about having the best ball club he has had since he became boss of the club.

"My job is to assemble the pitchers, select them in the proper order and pitch them to the best advantage," the Giant manager was saying.

"I've got a one year contract. It wouldn't make or change my present plans if I had a three year contract. I'd still have to satisfy Horace Stoneham that I know what I'm doing.

"I've got four pitchers, regular starters, in Sam Jones, Johnny Antonelli, Jack Sanford and Mike McCormick. And Billy O'Dell, the lefthander could be my fifth starter.

"O'Dell," explained Rigney, prefers to be known as a starter. "But in my present plans he's my number one relief pitcher. I'll use O'Dell, Antonelli and McCormick against clubs that have a predominant array of southpaw hitters.

"JONES, SANFORD and perhaps Stu Miller have to be considered my ace-in-the-hole right-handers, with Miller being rated more as a middle game relief fliinger."

Rig sat in the swimming pool area this afternoon and gave me many answers to many problems confronting him as his team goes into the more serious phases of spring training.

"I'm conscious of the fact that baseball fans realize I have perhaps the things I've wanted ever since I became manager," Rigney says.

"THE SECOND BASE combination of Don Blasingame and Eddie Bressoud gives us defensive strength. Those two fellows would have won the 1959 pennant for me. They give me defensive strength and pose a definite challenge to me as manager. I have to admit the second base problem helps our pitching. Without the double play activity, a ball club is stymied.

"Bressoud and Blasingame rate right now as two of the best glove men in the National League. They give us a defense that we have never had in the last three years.

"I'm not satisfied with my bench. I need more power. I need fellows who can step up and whack a ball in the clutches. I think we'll have it before long. How or where I'm going to get it is, for the present, not easy to say.

"BUT IT FOLLOWS naturally that Mr. Stoneham wants a pennant. He's spent plenty of money buying and swapping for players he knew we lacked in other seasons. He can't give me a catcher like Yogi Berra. If he could buy someone like that he'd do it without any fear of the cost. He'd like also to give me 'bench strength.' But those two items are on the agenda. We'll get around to it. "Meanwhile my job concerns my ability to show Mr. Stoneham and the baseball public that I am able to use the pitch-

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Tourney Prizes To Be Distributed Thursday

Bill Hoffman will become officially known as "Skipper Bill" Thursday night when he picks up his spanking new Trailorboat, first prize in the Country Club Bowl's recent single tournament.

Bill's 934 series won him the beautiful craft, valued at $2,217. Making the presentation will be Ralph Cain of the Tailor boat Co. The ceremonies will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

Second prize, worth $125, will go to Mike Weddell for his 928 total. More than $800 in cash prizes will be distributed to the 38 top scorers, according to Manager Dave Rivera. The tournament attracted nearly 600 entries.

CARRIAGE HOUSE Beauty Salon picked up the championship trophy last Friday as Greenbrae Lanes' Coffee Cuppers League closed its season. The Carriage team finished with a record of 48 victories to second place San Rafael Paint and Drywall Co. teams 46.

Members of the championship team were Frances Dahl, ing talent to the best advantage.

"It isn't an easy task to satisfy pitchers, to work them in rotation and to keep them happy. Some pitchers want to work every three or four days. Others feel they are more effective if they can pitch in relief assignments and still be considered regular starters.

"BILLY O'DELL drops into the category of a starter and an ace reliever. Against clubs with strong lefthanded hitters, he'll be real effective. He wants to work often and he wants a chance to start ball games. But mainly O'Dell is happy to take relief assignments when and if the occasion arises."

I asked the Giants' skipper if he would name the pitchers on his staff that he thought might be 20-game winners. I expected him to say he had three flingers he would rate in that category.

But to my surprise Rigney declared he had four pitchers in mind who could each win 20 games. He named Jones, Antonelli, Sanford and Mike McCormick.

"JONES AND ANTONELLI are cinches," Rig states. "Sanford was a 15-game winner last year but he was injured and out of action for six weeks. "McCormick won 12 games and it could just as easily have been 20 if he had any luck. "Four or five games I recall when our club couldn't get him a run.

"Now if you add O'Dell to this group you come up with startling possibilities. I've never heard of a manager having five sure-fire starters. I'm certain the Giants have it starting out in 1960. It's up to me to keep rotating them, sandwiching in the relief guys properly. That is why I say I'm on the spot and know it.

"THIS SEASON I have numbers in pitching. If the starting group can finish games, I'm set for the season. I have the reserves needed and I think the Giants' pitching strength is the greatest since I became manager of the club.

"I need some luck," opines Rigney. "Every manager realizes what a devastating effect injuries or sore arms have on a staff such as we have today. But I'm not anticipating any of those ailments. If they come we have enough fellows around like Billy Jones, Alan Worthington, Stu Miller, Raymond Monzant and the likes to step in and cut the mustard.

"BUT JUST SAY for me I'm on the spot and know it and hope to prove in 1960 that old man Rigney's job is cut out for him and let it go at that," concludes the Giant skipper.

Millie Cuff, Leila Mills and Dorothy Rosso.

The second place team included Ethel Lowe, Mary Garrett, Gloria Vanlandingham and Pat Frick.

Dorothy Rosso had the season's high game of 206. A special achievement award, for increasing her average from 90 to 110, went to Laurie Hilman-owski.

In Friday's final action Dorothy Rosso fired a 518 series. Dempy Mooromsky had a 201 solo.

ESTHER SNYDER rolled a 438 series and Ruth Rowden a 434 to lead the Morning Glories last Thursday at Country Club. Celia Reich hit a 404 and Judy Hamilton a 403 for runner-up honors.

ONE OF San Francisco's former great stars will go to work tomorrow in the cocktail lounge at Country Club. He is Walter "Gabby" Koetz and his nickname indicates he's quite a conversationalist among bowlers.

Here's A Roundup Of News From Big League Teams' Spring Camps

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The condition of Ted Williams' neck has become a top secret item in the Boston Red Sox training camp.

Manager Billy Jurges supplied the new twist yesterday when he placed a taboo on any mention of neck injuries. Only a week ago the 41-year-old slugger had said the painful ailment could force him to retire.

"Don't even ask Ted how his neck is," Jurges told reporters. "Let's let it go at that."

Williams, meanwhile, appeared improved to news-men who watched him go through yesterday's workout. He no longer carries his neck to one side and yesterday he was blasting away in

Giants, Loaded With Hurlers, Try Another

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have decided to take a look at George Zuverink, former relief star for Baltimore.

Zuverink, 33, had three good seasons for the Orioles, but then slid to an 0-1 mark last year plus a 3-4 record at Miami.

But the veteran reliever today blamed last year's woes on a bad back and asked for a shot with the Giants.

Another intra-squad game was scheduled by the Giants today. Pitcher Ramon Monzant, a late arrival, planned to take his first workout on the hill.

Yesterday, the team took it easy with only a routine batting drill on the schedule.

Jack Sanford, who was bothered by a cut finger earlier, pitched batting practice and showed he could fire the ball hard without pain.

Willie McCovey, still a growing boy and 15 pounds heavier than last year, continued to impress with his long-distance belts.

All-West Coast 5 Selections Listed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's Darrell Imhoff, the towering All-American from San Gabriel, topped the balloting on the All-West Coast basketball team announced today by United Press International.

Imhoff was picked on every first team by the UPI sports writers — and his team-mate, Bill McClintock, was on all except two first teams. He made the second team on the others.

Frank Burgess, clever Gonzaga guard; Don Ogorek of Seattle University and Tom Meschery of St. Mary's were the other men named to the first team.

his record shows two "300" games, two 299s and one 298. In 1940 he won the Far Western Classic with a 771 series and in 1942 he carried a 200-plus average in the S.F. Traveling League.

batting practice with his old zest and lecturing younger players on hitting.

Williams is attempting a comeback after his 1959 batting average fell to an all-time low of .254.

Veteran players produced the most important news in other camps, especially at Tampa, Fla., where Frank Robinson's slugging had the Cincinnati Reds beaming. Robinson, who batted .311, hit 36 homers and drove in 125 runs last season, walloped three straight doubles during the Reds' intra-squad game.

Pitchers Dick Donovan of the American League champion Chicago White Sox and Ned Garver of the Kansas City Athletics also looked and felt great.

"I feel just like a 25-game winner," said Donovan, after revealing that he weighs only 205 pounds compared to his 207 at the end of last season. "After all, this is spring training and if I don't feel optimistic now I never will."

Garver, 10-13 last year, engaged in his first workout at West Palm Beach, Fla., and surprised everyone by throwing hard.

"My weight is under 180 be-

Marin Junior Leagues Set Signup And Tryout Dates

Several junior baseball leagues in Marin County have announced tryout and signup dates this week as the 1960 season approaches.

Rain washed out Sunday's scheduled tryouts in the San Anselmo Little, Junior and Senior baseball leagues, but President Marston Thall promptly rescheduled them for next Sunday at 1 p.m.

The delay will give players another week to sign up if they have not done so already. Thall said vacancies still exist in the senior league—for 15-16-17-year-olds—and boys interested may contact Recreation Director Frank Quinn at Memorial Park or may sign immediately prior to next Sunday's tryouts.

Thall said the draft session previously scheduled for this Thursday at the San Anselmo council chamber also had been postponed until Thursday, March 17.

Northern Marin Pony League registration has been sched-

Bears Top Final Vote By UPI Judging Board

ALL-LEAGUE 5 DOMINATED BY BEARS

NEW YORK (UPI) — California's Golden Bears, who employed "old-fashioned" methods like ball-control and defense to win 24 of 25 games, today were acclaimed national college basketball champions for the 1959-60 regular season by the United Press International board of coaches.

Coach-of-the-year Pete Newell's men beat out Cincinnati for the honor by a margin of 10 points in the final ratings by the 35 outstanding coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

This was a fitting tribute to 44-year-old Newell, who retires as coach after this season and steps up to athletic director at California.

In their final ratings, 20 coaches made California their No. 1 choice and 13 voted for Oscar Robertson-led Cincinnati. Third-ranked Ohio State and fifth-ranked Utah each received one first-place vote.

EACH 24-1

In points (distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places), California received a total of 334 to 324 for Cincinnati. Both teams compiled 24-1 regular season records.

California will receive the United Press International Trophy, emblematic of the national championship.

Following Cincinnati in order came Ohio State's Big Ten champions (21-3); Bradley (24-2); Utah, the Skyline Conference champ (24-3); West Virginia, Southern Conference Champion (24-4); Utah State (22-4); Georgia Tech, Southeastern Conference winner (21-5); Villanova, an independent with a 19-5 record, and Indiana (20-4).

TIGHT DEFENSE

California, operating on Newell's theory that each time a team loses possession of the ball without scoring makes a difference of 1½ points in the final score, led the major colleges in defense by holding its 25 opponents to an average of 48 points per game.

The Bears suffered their only setback at the hands of Southern California early in January. They later beat Southern Cal twice while closing out their regular season with 15 straight victories. Among the Bears' intersectional victims were sixth-ranked West Virginia, Colorado and Michigan State and Illinois of the Big Ten.

Of the top 10 teams, California, Cincinnati, Ohio State, Utah, West Virginia and Georgia Tech will play in the NCAA tournament, while Bradley, Utah State and Villanova have entered the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California, which dominated this year's Big Five basketball race, also dominated the coaches' 1960 All-Big Five basketball team.

Named to the first team yesterday were center Darrell Imhoff, guard Earl Shultz and forward Bill McClintock of California. The league's top scorer, Bill Hanson of Washington, and John Arrillaga of Stanford rounded out the all-star quintet.

On the second club were Tandy Gillis of California, John Werhas and Jerry Pimm of USC, and John Berberich and John Green of UCLA.

The following cagers earned honorable mention: Clint Names, Washington; John Rudometkin, USC; Kent Miller, UCLA; John Windsor, Stanford; Steve Kemp, USC, and Bub Bowling, Stanford.

Certification Asked For Shotput Record

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dallas Long, the 19-year-old sophomore shotput star who has set a goal of 65 feet this year, today was another step along the trail to that mark with his first record performance of 1960 headed for certification as a world mark.

The University of Southern California weigman's early-season put of 63 feet, 7 inches was being processed today by the Southern Pacific AAU as a world record.

Commissioner of officials H. Lee Hansen of the local association told the Southern California Track and Field Writers and Coaches Assn. yesterday that the shot Long used last Saturday in the AAU's relay meet for his record throw weighed one ounce over the minimum of 16 pounds and the field was surveyed and found acceptable.

But neither Long nor his coach, Jess Mortensen, was content with that mark and the coach said Long confided in him that he set 65 feet as his goal.

"Dallas told me after Saturday's performance that he felt certain he could do 65 feet this year," Mortensen told the writers and coaches.

Idaho State 1st Opponent In Title Defense

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's defending champions battle upstart Idaho State tonight for the right to go to Seattle Friday and meet Santa Clara in the opening round of the NCAA regional basketball tournaments.

Santa Clara and Utah gained berths in the Western regional last night. The Broncos defeated Loyola, 59-53, in a playoff between the co-champions of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Utah, kingpin of the Skyline Conference, scored an 80-73 victory over the University of Southern California, one of the West's two "at large" selections.

The other, Oregon, meets New Mexico State of the Border Conference in Corvallis tomorrow night for the right to play Utah at Seattle.

California takes a 24-1 record into tonight's battle.

But Idaho State is no pushover. The Bengals have a 21-4 record, hold the Rocky Mountain Conference championship. They had a win string of 17 straight going until their last game of the season when they were trounced by Seattle, 89-53.

Tentative Budgets Set For Office Of County School Chief

Tentative budgets for operation of the Marin County superintendent of schools' office, including basic salary increases for professional personnel of 13.5 per cent, were approved by the county board of education last night.

As approved, the county school service fund budget would increase to $307,110 as compared with $270,383 this year; the tentative County of Marin budget for the superintendent's office would go down slightly, from $92,721 this year to $91,434 next year. The miscellaneous education budget, also paid out of county funds, increases from $27,037 to $30,826.

Under the salary schedule given approval last night, basic professional salaries would go up $570. This year the basic pay is $4,500, but the board last year voted a rate of only 94 per cent of the basic scale, or $4,230 per year. The state's minimum teacher's salary then was $4,200.

MINIMUM RAISED

This year the state minimum was raised to $4,500. Supt. Virgil S. Hollis recommended that the board not only increase the basic salary to $4,800, but also that 100 per cent of the base be paid. The board agreed unanimously, with President Alice N. Rust and Adele S. Alpers absent.

Rudolph S. Kupfer, assistant superintendent, reported total professional salaries would be increased about $25,000 by the new scale.

This includes the change in the basic salary schedule, "normal step increases," and inclusion of 25 per cent of his (Kupfer's) salary in the schools service fund budget.

COLE OBJECTS

This last item rekindled objections of board member Ted V. Cole to applying 75 per cent of Kupfer's salary to the county budget and 25 per cent to the school service funds budget "when it was illegal to do it last year."

Hollis had prepared a two-page explanation of this issue, which erupted in the board's February meeting. Basic misunderstanding, Hollis said, was not whether it was legal to split the salary of an assistant superintendent between the county and the school services fund, but whether it in fact had been done.

Quoting from opinions of the county counsel, state officials, and minutes of the county board of supervisors and the county board of education, Hollis pointed out that Leland W. Harris, the previous assistant superintendent, had been paid 100 per cent of his base salary by the supervisors and then another 10 per cent added from the county services fund.

HOLLIS EXPLAINS

"You can't pay more than 100 per cent. If 90 per cent of his salary had been paid by the county and the rest by the service fund, it would have been legal," Hollis said. "But no record indicates this."

Cole declared he "still can't see" the difference in the two situations. But OB Cavanaugh said he could "understand it now" and that "there is no doubt in my mind as to the honest and sincerity" of Hollis in his recommendation. Hollis was ill and absent from the board's February meeting.

Vice president Robert G. Randolph, who presided at last night's meeting in the county schools office, declared, "We didn't get the full story before; now it's cleared up."

ONE 'NO' VOTE

But it wasn't for Cole. He voted against approval of that portion of the budget, although it passed 4 to 1, and said he would confer further with Hollis and Kupfer in an effort to straighten the thing out.

The county's portion of the budget now will go before the supervisors. Hollis said he would suggest "a complete re-study of the salary schedule" at some special meeting the board will hold March 17.

Substandard Lot Residence Passed

"Special driving tests for people who live on Corinthian Island were jokingly suggested by Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday after a lively hearing which resulted in grant of a use permit for A. P. Birch to build a single-family residence against the front line of a substandard lot on Tamalpais avenue at Main street.

Although in a district requiring a minimum area of 6,000 square feet and itself containing only 2,550 square feet, the lot was found by staff investigation to be a legal building site under the zoning ordinance.

It is on the downhill side of Tamalpais avenue "and slopes in excess of 90 per cent," the report said. Other residents pointed to car parking problems and said there might be blockage in case of fire on a street that "is the only way off the island."

Permission was granted with a proviso that two offstreet parking places be provided.

POLICE WERE ALARMED—FOR A WHILE

When Corte Madera Police Chief Frank L. Nelson first saw this line of machines, he thought someone was trying to open up the town right under his nose. But the "slots" proved to be cash registers for training department heads and salespeople who will work in Montgomery Ward and Co.'s new Corte Madera Center store. Classes are being held in a vacant shop on Corte Madera avenue. New Ward outlet will open March 17. (Independent-Journal photo)

Corte Madera Zones 36 Acres Residential

The Corte Madera Town Council last night passed an ordinance establishing a zoning plan for about 36 acres east of Highway 101 and introduced another aimed at illegal property splitting.

Zoned as a one-family residential district was a portion of Marin Country Day School property south of Paradise drive, plus the adjacent lands of Thomas Deffebach Jr. of Tiburon.

Balance of the school property, to be sold to Carolands, Inc., for apartment development, was classified as a multiple residential district with a density ratio of one dwelling unit per 3,000 square feet of site area.

The properties were annexed to Corte Madera two years ago, but never zoned.

Introduced was an ordinance which would prohibit issuance of building permits for any land which has been illegally partitioned. "Until such time as the pertinent provisions of the town's subdivision ordinance . . . shall have been complied with."

Town Atty. John B. Ehlen drafted the measure after investigating several alleged violations of the subdivision ordinance. It is expected to be passed at the next council meeting, March 21.

Ehlen said the new ordinance would serve to alert prospective land purchasers to town regulations governing division of property. He said the innocent buyer of an illegally split lot would have legal recourse against the seller.

The Corte Madera Council also:

1. Directed Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow to ask Marvin W. Brigham, county public works director, whether private land fill operations on the south shore of Pt. San Quentin are likely to create a flood control hazard on Corte Madera Creek.

2. Went on record opposing adoption of a town zoning ordinance amendment which would permit roof signs or signs extending above the parapet line of any buildings. Montgomery Ward and Co. had hoped to erect a roof sign on its new store in Corte Madera Center.

3. Approved a tree-planting plan for the El Camino drive entrance to Marin Estates on condition that town maintenance of the landscaped area cease when adjacent lands are developed. The town will provide 19 trees from the municipal nursery.

4. Approved a new five-year fire insurance policy on town buildings. First premium payment will be $969, with annual payments of $320 thereafter. A proposed policy on the buildings' contents was returned to John Barry, the town's insurance agent, for re-drafting. Councilmen decided the town should pay fire insurance premiums on the Corte Madera Recreation Center instead of billing the Corte Madera Lions Club and reimbursing the club later. The Lions built the center and donated it to the town, but retained stewardship rights.

5. Accepted off-site improvements in Unit 2B of Mariners Cove, subject to posting of a one-year $1,000 maintenance bond by the developer.

6. Approved warrants totaling $19,279.73.

College Aid Decision Delayed By County Education Board

Decision on whether the county school superintendent's staff can continue with a program to assist College of Marin in a study of business practices and curriculum must wait another month.

Last month the Marin County Board of Education worried about whether the county office had enough manpower to give two days a week to the college. Board members decided to wait a month to see how the program worked out.

But because of the recent illness of Rudolph S. Kupfer, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, the program was not able to get properly under way, board member Lyman B. McBride noted last night. He also protested that the attitude of the county board had not been made clear in accounts of the February meeting. "We weren't

Corte Madera Ups Pay For Works Post

The Corte Madera Town Council last night established a procedure for hiring a new public works superintendent and decided to add an experienced officer to the police force instead of an untrained recruit.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow recommended the salary spread for the public works post be boosted three ranges, from $405-$494 to $470-$570. Unwilling to go that far, the council voted a one-range increase to $426-$518.

Former Supt. Frank Reis was earning $494 a month, top pay step in the old range, when he resigned last month. He directed hot words at the council last summer after being denied a requested range increase.

JOB DESCRIBED

Brandow said the prospect of enticing a "high caliber employee" had prompted him to recommend a three-range increase for the vacant position.

Councilmen approved a job description for the post and authorized the manager to obtain a written examination from the state Bureau of Personnel Services. Scoring of candidates will be weighted at 60 points for the written test and 40 for an oral examination.

It was emphasized that about 75 per cent of the job involves direct supervision of personnel in the field. Under questioning, Brandow acknowledged that in the past he has been forced to handle much of this supervision himself.

DECISION REVERSED

Brandow prevailed upon the council to reverse a previous decision to hire an apprentice for the police department. Councilmen also abandoned the idea of giving the new officer part-time duty as a school crossing guard.

Besides Chief Frank L. Nelson, the department now has an inspector, a sergeant and a patrolman. Brandow said candidates for the additional patrolman's post will be given only an oral examination, probably by himself and the council's police committee. The salary range is $367-447.

School Board Post Filled In Sausalito

Hal N. Mays, an engineer for Standard Oil Co. in San Francisco, was appointed last night to the Sausalito School Board, replacing Jerome A. Adams, who resigned.

Mays, who lives at 95 Monte Mar drive, Sausalito, was one of 10 persons who had been considered for the appointment. County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis reported. He submitted Mays' name to the county board of education last night for confirmation. The board approved unanimously.

The new trustee has been a resident of Sausalito since September, 1958, and for the past year has been an official observer for the parent-teacher assn. at the school board meetings. He has a child in a Sausalito second grade.

A graduate of East High School in Salt Lake City and the University of Utah, he is particularly interested in school district organization in Marin. Hollis told the board.

Accreditation Group To Visit Tam High

Paul B. Hale, coordinator of secondary education for San Francisco State College, has been appointed chairman of an accreditation committee that will visit Tamalpais High School April 25-27.

The visitation will be made under auspices of the California Assn. of Secondary School Administrators. Other committee members are Dr. G. Edward Rudloff, Marin County instruction consultant; Loly K. Wood, Santa Rosa superintendent of schools; Laurence L. Belander, consultant to the state Bureau of Guidance, and Claude D. Samples, principal of El Cerrito High School.

Bills To Reduce State Taxes Clear First Hurdles Handily

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Tax reduction bills are on the move in the California Legislature whether Gov. Edmund G. Brown likes it or not.

Four measures calling for cuts ranging from 14 to 20 million dollars in all sped through the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee yesterday.

The ease with which the bills won their first committee approval brightened chances for passage by the Senate itself.

The legislation proposes: Lifting the 3 per cent state sales tax on medicines and orthopedic devices, false teeth and glasses. Bringing California's income and bank-corporation franchise taxes into conformity with federal law—worth about $4,800,000 to the taxpayers.

Sen. John F. Thompson (R-San Jose) introduced another bill to exempt candy and confectionery goods from the sales tax. This yields about $4,500,000 a year now.

The Senate committee action came in the face of Gov. Brown's recent statement that "there just isn't a chance" for tax relief this year. However, the governor has not completely ruled out the drug exemption.

NINE DEMOS

The committee includes nine Democrats, only two Republicans. Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno), Senate majority leader, argued in vain that it was getting "a little ahead of ourselves" to put out tax reduction bills ahead of the state budget.

"It's about time we gave some consideration to reductions, instead of thinking of revenue losses," said Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), author of one of the bills.

His bill would exclude all medicines, including such things as aspirin and cough syrup, from the sales tax.

Another bill by Sen. Stanford C. Shaw (D-Ontario) would apply only to prescriptions.

AMENDMENTS

Sen. George Miller, Jr. (D-Martinez) succeeded in writing amendments into both bills exempting braces, trusses, artificial limbs, false teeth and glasses.

McCarthy's bill would cost the state an estimated $15,100,000 a year in revenue, Shaw's nine million. McCarthy suggested that the committee report out the two measure and let the governor take his choice.

The income and franchise tax bills were approved over objections by Sen. John Holmdahl (D-Oakland) that conformity with federal laws would affect only 10 per cent of California taxpayers. He said 90 per cent of them earn less than $10,000 a year.

BURDEN 'OPPRESSIVE'

Sen. James J. McBride (D-Ventura), chief author of the bills, spoke of the present tax burden as oppressive.

"I believe that the least we can do as legislators," he said, "is to relieve as much as possible the onerous burden of preparing complicated income tax returns."

One of his provisions would mean nearly one million dollars to taxpayers 65 or older in increased deductions for medical expenses. Another would involve an extra $800,000 in depletion allowances for oil wells and mines.

Eight Killed As Train, Station Wagon Collide

BERLIN, Conn. (AP)—A passenger train collided with a station wagon today, killing seven school children and an adult.

The automobile, carrying the children and a woman driver, was hurled into Silver Lake, an ice-crusted five-foot-deep pond beside Norton Lane.

Police tentatively identified the dead as Mrs. Emily Whitaker of Berlin and seven state wards, all Negroes. At least three of the bodies were held by the submerged wreckage in the pond. Skin divers were called.

None of the passengers aboard the train—the New Haven Railroad's No. 97 bound from Springfield, Mass., to New York—was injured.

The accident occurred at an unprotected grade crossing on Norton Lane, just off the Wilbur Cross Parkway, on a roadway covered with half an inch of snow.

It was near the home of Mrs. Whitaker and her husband, John, who were cited by the Catholic Transcript in 1957 for their care of foster school children.

In 14 years they had cared for 16 foster children.

Users Of Rutted Road Win Pledge Of Repair

San Rafael developer F. Lloyd Grandi, who has been "keeping one step ahead of the city for six years," did it again last night by forcing the city's hand in a raging controversy over improvement of rutted Elizabeth way.

A portion of Elizabeth way, leading into Rafael Highlands subdivision, has never been accepted by the city and presumably still belongs to Grandi. City fathers thus far have refused to repair chuck holes on ground that city funds should not be used to repair a road which should have been brought up to standard by the developer.

Last night, however, residents of Rafael Highlands, who use Elizabeth way daily, packed the city hall chambers and demanded that someone repair Elizabeth way, the only practical access to their homes.

Attorneys Roger P. Garety and Howard K. Morehouse, who live in Rafael Highlands, spoke up for more than 50 residents who attended en masse, and for nearly 200 petitioners who demanded that the road be repaired.

After a long and bitter session, during which Grandi was castigated from all sides, city fathers agreed to patch up the holes on Elizabeth way.

However, the councilmen left some loopholes through which they hope to make Grandi pay for at least a part of the estimated $3,000 cost of repairing the road.

SOME RED FACES

Car Taken From Under Noses Of CHP Men

A heavy cloud of embarrassment hung over the San Rafael office of the California Highway Patrol on Francisco boulevard today, for the lawmen had just found themselves party to the disappearance of a car next door.

"How were we to know?" expostulated Patrolman Paul Zensius. "Talk about that junk High Tea from Hong Kong! 'This looked like junk long gone from Detroit!'"

George Tiaffay of 50 Austin avenue, San Anselmo, owner of the missing car, thought otherwise.

More than a year ago Tiaffay, an antique car fan, bought a rare 1936 Ford touring car, in poor condition but fit for restoration.

He subsequently spent $300 with a body shop, which later changed hands and left him with the restoration only started. Pending further work, Tiaffay piled fenders, headlights and other miscellany in the open body and stored the vehicle on an open lot south of the patrol building.

Patrolman Zensius in the course of his routine recently checked the car without discovering its ownership, or that it had any value. But it was on private property so he let it alone.

"It sure looked like nothing to me," said Zensius today. "But somebody saw me looking it over and later phoned to ask about it. I couldn't tell him much."

"Finally along comes this fellow with a truck and trailer, and he and a couple of boys loaded the car aboard and took it off. They didn't mean to steal it—just thought it was abandoned, and so did I for a while."

Tiaffay, discovering his property was missing, filed a theft report—with no kind word for the highway patrol.

Decision On Seashore Area Hearing Pends

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today put over for a week a decision on whether to hold a public hearing on the proposed Pt. Reyes national seashore recreation area.

Request for an evening hearing March 29 was made by the Pt. Reyes National Seashore Foundation.

The request followed by one week a plea by the foundation president Joel Gustafson that the board declare a neutral policy on the proposed park.

Present last week and today was Mrs. Helen Merret, treasurer of the foundation.

Mrs. Merret said today she simply wanted the hearing so that views of both proponents and opponents could be heard by the supervisors. She said she hoped the hearing could be held prior to the scheduled April 14 state Senate committee hearing in San Francisco.

Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro said he thought the feeling "is the same as last week, and we should wait for a survey."

"I already have asked that the senate hearing be held in Marin," said Castro. "I wrote (Rep. Clement) Miller and have not received an answer."

"I agree on a hearing, and for both sides, but I want to wait for a survey."

Supervisor William Gnos said, "I feel the same as you do, but I don't want to deny anything in the way of a hearing."

Supervisor James Marshall said he felt the same as Castro.

Supervisor Vera Schultz said: "I think we should want to hear both sides before the hearing. It seems that would be beneficial."

Castro said he felt all members of the board should be present to make any such decision. Supervisor William D.

Fusselman was absent, and, according to County Clerk George S. Jones, was ill with a leg ailment.

Finally it was agreed to delay the matter a week.

E. San Rafael Zone Hearing Again Tonight

Another public hearing will be held tonight by the San Rafael Planning Commission on the proposed apartment zoning of land in East San Rafael that is now zoned for commercial and light industry.

The planning commissioners meet in the city hall at 7:30 p.m.

Other items on tonight's agenda include a 13-lot subdivision between Fifth and Seenic avenues in the Sun Valley area. John Farrar and Associates are the developers.

San Rafael Cabinet Co. wants a use permit for a cabinet shop at 31 Mill street.

A restaurant and warehouse is planned at Mill and Harbor streets. Architectural approval is asked for the project.

Jerry Stone Investment Co. seeks approval for a 13-unit apartment on Canal street.

Conservation, Nature Groups To Meet

The Marin Nature Group will join the Marin Conservation League at its annual meeting in the College of Marin's Olney Hall at 8 p.m., Friday. A film of the Pt. Reyes Peninsula will be shown.

The Marin Nature Group will also take a field trip, Sunday, to the Sausalito peninsula. The day will begin at the College of Marin circle at 9:30 a.m. The leader will be Willis Pellitier.

DIRECTOR — Richard M. Beeler, president of Beeler Publishing Corp. of San Francisco and resident of 122 Alameda way, Greenbrae, has been elected to the board of directors of National Business Publications, Inc. He will start his four-year term at the annual meeting this week in Boca Raton, Fla. Beeler's firm publishes Western Feed and Seed and Agricultural West.

Parking Causes Novato Project To Be Rejected

Novato downtown parking "is really tough," a member of the Marin County Planning Commission testified yesterday in taking a dim view of application of Joseph W. and Mary Wright to construct a store and office building without providing minimum offstreet parking.

Commissioner James Cuzner, describing his personal parking troubles in Novato, brought about denial of the Wright application to build on the south side of Grant avenue east of Fourth street with 10 standard parking spaces where the zoning ordinance requires a minimum of 16 spaces.

A spokesman for the Wrights said such a narrow view would "hamper development." But other businessmen pointed out that they were required to comply with parking requirements.

The planners were sitting in their temporary role as the Novato Planning Commission. Their denial will be reported to the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. Thursday, along with an indefinite continuation of the Wrights' application for architectural supervision.

Also to be reported is a denial of D. Halakis' application for an additional restaurant sign at the 101 Motel at 5613 Redwood highway.

The commission approved a tentative map of Hillside Subdivision Unit No. 2 near Tamalpais avenue in Novato, with provision that several similar names such as "Hill court, Hillside road" must be changed to prevent confusion. This is a five-acre area which had been previously approved several years ago but not then developed.

West Marin Area Given Rural Zoning

A large West Marin area, including Bolinas and Stinson Beach but with some major exclusions, was zoned for one-acre minimum lot size by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday as a means of protecting rural beauty pending adoption of a master plan.

This action was taken in support of an effort headed by Felix M. Warburg, Belvedere architect, and backed by many Bolinas-Stinson Beach property owners. Doubters were also in evidence—notably Gene McDaniel, president of the board of the Bolinas Harbor District.

McDaniel presented a letter expressing the unanimous view of the board that there should be exclusion of the Bolinas Lagoon tidelands.

Tidelands under grant from the federal government cannot be sold and must be developed primarily for use as a small craft harbor, the letter said. Development of such a harbor "is a project almost certainly requiring federal assistance" because of costs of dredging and protective jetty, said the letter, and for this the lands must be free of encumbrance such as zoning restrictions.

McDaniel said that about 850 acres are under grant to the harbor district. Engineers are now completing a survey looking toward federal aid.

But Chairman William Upham commented that "even the federal government expects you will have planning." The final resolution satisfied McDaniel by providing that though the harbor district is included, if any conflict develops this will be reconsidered.

As the resolution was finally framed by Commissioner Margaret Azevedo it excluded the Stinson Beach highlands and adjacent area, the sandspit and downtown Bolinas, otherwise including for reclassification from interim limited agricultural zoning a vast area southwest of Bolinas Ridge, northwest of and including Stinson Beach and southeast of Woodville and Palomarin Rancho—substantially most of the watershed toward Olema and Bolinas Mesa.

Warburg, who had put the problem to the commission in mid-January with support of 81 others, said it had become necessary to "decide whether we are to remain in the county, or become a suburb such as most of Marin County is."

Warburg asked zoning for four-acre lots. The county planning staff whittled this to one acre size. Warburg after the meeting took a philosophical view though feeling that "four acres still seems closer."

A feature of the debate was reading of a sardonic verse by Mrs. Juliet H. Messinger of 250 Los Cerros drive, San Rafael, starting:

"Let us allow every exclusion, Let us encourage utter confusion, Let us build as fast as we can"

Before they complete the master plan . . . Let us invite everyone in. To help urbanize West Marin. To help destroy such rural beauty Should be each one's civic duty . . ."

Sherman Smith, owner of 50 flat acres which he might subdivide, received assurance that subdividing isn't prevented by the new move.

The planners' decision will be reported to the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 2 p.m. March 15 for setting a time and date of public hearing.

Terra Linda Shop Center Gets Go-Ahead

Northgate Shopping Center, the two-and-one-half-million-dollar commercial project at Terra Linda, won the green light last night from the San Rafael City Council.

The shopping center, on 20 acres of land, will be located on the south side of Freitas parkway just west of Highway 101. It should be open for business about Easter of 1961, according to Robert B. Liles, architect.

Fredrickson and Watson of San Leandro has already started the grading work. The contract for the buildings will be awarded in a week or two, Liles announced.

He said he cannot disclose the names of tenants at the shopping center as yet. Among stores planned at the center are a supermarket, variety store, department store, bank, drug store, barber shop, professional and medical offices, and service stations.

Engineer for the project is Carlos E. Gonzalez of the George S. Nolte Engineering firm.

Buildings will occupy about 120,000 square feet, not including the professional offices. Eight acres of parking space is provided.

The Terra Linda interchange is expected to be completed by the time the shopping center opens next year.

Exotic Japanese Decor Setting For Sunny Hills Auxiliary Party

An evening in Japan was the theme of the annual membership dinner dance of Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary on Saturday evening at the Meadow Club honoring eight new members. The club was exotic with gay lanterns and pagodas, the main hall being the focal point with a beautiful black inlaid Japanese screen draped with pink silk brocade.

A large group of old and new members turned out in spite of the inclement weather. Chairman of the dance, Mrs. Robert Mills, discussing the beautiful decor with Mrs. John Bellamy, Marion Bellamy was wearing a stunning Chinese chrysanthemum sheath. Checking in guests at the door were Mrs. John Munson, Mrs. William Bagley and Mrs. Jack Rakow, making sure each member and her husband had name tag. Tags were decorated with tiny parasols. Mrs. Henry Wickert, new president of the auxiliary, lovely in champagne shantung dress with large marquisette collar, greeted new member, Mrs. Henry Wagner, and her husband.

Snow trips past and future dominated the conversation during the cocktail hour. Just home from the fabulous Olympics were the Huntley Bennetts, Lee Cecils and sisters Mrs. Robert (Maio) Lashley and Mrs. Charles (Carol) Daniels and their husbands. A large group looking forward to their annual visit to Edelweiss with their children includes the Charles Cooneys, Mozart Kaufmans, Hugh Carruthers, Eugene Kerns, Bill Nicolls, Philip Browns, William Millikens and Herbert Crocker. Dorothy Crocker being complimented on her new hair-do.

Mrs. Albert (Lois) Huber, a new member, arrived with Philip Cranes, Herbert Hansons and George Ball. Al Huber arrived during dinner because of delay on a business trip to Portland.

The delectable roast beef dinner was enjoyed by all. Laurel leaves, camellias and pink candles brightened each table. Varied topics were discussed at one large table. It was one of the first nights out for Anne and Tom Jones after the arrival of their new daughter. The Vern Norris, Ty a neophyte lovely in red, chatting with the Gregory Sheehans who had just returned from a ski trip to Yosemite. Hank and Lory Wilks comparing the problem of kitchen remodeling with the James McLaughlins. The Herbert Wests and Thomas Cagwins, old school friends, enjoyed dinner together. Nancy Cagwin telling new member, Jan West, about the new home they will move into on Mt. Baldy in two weeks.

Thoroughly enjoying the dancing in a room off the dining room were inactive members and their husbands.

Among these were the Leon Smiths, John Reichmuths, William Davis, Paul Hartmans and Edgar Lindners.

Exciting trips are on the agenda for many. Miami and Nassau are the destinations of Collie and Bill Kimball and the Philip McCoys. Bill was hampered only slightly during the evening by his crutches, he uses as a result of a skiing mishap. Anxiously anticipating a visit to Singapore and Tahiti are the William Brantmans. Joyce Brantman was born in Singapore. The John O'Neills are planning a dinner party honoring European travelers, James Hales, Robert Schlen-dorfs and William Solaris.

Other neophytes seen here and there were Mrs. John Morse hearing about Mrs. James Peggs' new daughter Sarah; Mrs. George Fernbacher telling Mrs. Douglas Ballinger about the recent trip to Las Vegas for a family reunion. One new member was missed as the James Dawsons were on a trip to the San Joaquin Valley.

In fact, this favorite spring-time foursome will be the center of attraction on Tuesday when the spring fashions from leading American designers will be "Sealed In Easter Style" at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon in a fashionable salute to the Marin Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. and its important Easter Seal campaign.

done" at the pre-Easter fashion luncheon in their honor.

Test System To Be Subject At West End P-TA Meet

Parents of West End School children will hear San Rafael Superintendent of Schools, Frank Lucas, explain how the California Mental Maturity and California Achievement tests are used in San Rafael Schools, and how the results are interpreted at a meeting on Thursday, at West End School. Parents who have wondered how these tests reveal where their child stands in relation to his class, and other classes of the same grade, as well as what kind of work he is doing in relation to his capabilities will learn how this is determined. Just as valuable to the administration is the fact that the tests can show where a teacher's strengths and weaknesses are as well, and in revealing areas needing improvement throughout the school system. Since the testing program in the schools is often so little understood, and yet is so important, an open invitation is cordially extended to anyone who wishes to hear Mr. Lucas' talk. Baby sitters will take charge of the younger children. The sixth grade class will entertain with songs from their Unit of Many Lands. ## World Wings Inc. Dinner Party Set Saturday At Alta Mira Hotel

The San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of World Wings International, Inc. (eight-year-old organization of ex-Pan American World Airways stewardesses) will hold its once a year social event, a cocktail and dinner party, at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito Saturday night at 6 o'clock.

All ex-Pan American stewardesses are invited to attend. (Other events through the year are closed to non-members.) Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Thomas H. Kewin, Marin area chairman.

The cocktail and dinner party will present to all Bay Area members opportunity to have a little fun as well as exchange ideas on current and new projects and their accomplishment.

The organization aims to accomplish its civic, welfare, and cultural goals with a minimum of group effort and commitment. As a consequence, many organizational innovations have been instituted whereby group participation for any member can be as minor as attendance at four meetings per year, and the individual's participation in the organization's four projects can be of her own choice and at the convenience of her own time, energy, and inspiration. This low pressure method has proved to be quite productive.

The local unit has made a tour of Sonoma State Hospital and the Senior Citizens Center in San Rafael, and plans to tour four other institutions this year, in order to determine how the organization might better serve these groups.

As a result, Marin's World Wings now are procuring for Sonoma (through Pan American Airways) many education materials, plus games, cards, coloring books and crayons. In addition, the local group (through cooperation of a Mill Valley exchange shop) has established there, headquarters for collecting items to be donated directly to Sonoma State Hospital and the Senior Citizens Center. Also, purchase of any item put for sale by a member in the shop will go toward aiding Sonoma's Volunteer Services.

The following Marinites have made reservations for the evening:

Mesdames W. P. Arnett, John C. Aurely, Charles Ayres, R. J. Burkhard, B. K. Collins, W. F. Cozad, Edward DeCoppet, Scott Foster, and Dr. and Mrs. James L. Fuller;

Messrs. and Mesdames David Grinsfelder, R. E. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Jampolsky, Messrs. and Mesdames Preston Jones, Thomas H. Kewin, H. G. Lawrence, J. G. McDonald, Kimball S. Palm, V. H. Petrie, Maurice W. Schoder, William Schmidt, R. N. Sundquist, E. P. Ward, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul C. Vogelheim.

FOUR MEMBERS of World Wings International (ex Pan American World Airways Stewardesses) are pictured planning a cocktail and dinner party to be held on Saturday evening at the

Fluoridation Topic For Old Mill P-TA

Less than a nickel a month added to his water bill will not only protect the average Marin parent from the strain of large dental bills, but will also help insure his own dental care in years ahead.

This was one of the outstanding arguments for fluoridation presented by Terra Linda dentist Dr. James Rideout before an Old Mill School P-TA audience recently in Mill Valley.

In his talk supporting fluoridation of drinking water, which the Marin Municipal Water District will propose to voters at the June 7 primary election, Dr. Rideout gave evidence to show the effectiveness, safety, low cost and necessity of adding fluorides to water.

"Fluoridation will be another milestone of our century, along with pasteurization, chlorination and anaesthesia," Dr. Rideout predicted.

Second Son Arrives

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Foote of Gallinas Village, San Rafael, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their second son. ## West End P-TA Presents Honor Life Membership

At a recent meeting of the West End P-TA, members heard Dick Murphy of KQED's speaker bureau give a report on the results of the classes held on TV the past 18 months in the Bay Area.

Far from TV replacing teachers in the classroom, their study indicates that 95 percent of the teachers felt they had to put in more time and preparation than before to use the TV classes to best advantage, but the majority expressed approval of them.

The principal of the West End School, Miss Edwina Condoni, introduced those past presidents of P-TA who attended in honor of a Founders' Day observance. They were Mesdames William O'Shaughnessy, Albert Chiaroni, Robert Edelstein, Richard Webster, and John Pitcher, Part of Miss Condoni's pleasure in her assignment, she revealed, was that her mother, Mrs. Joseph Condoni, and Mrs. Pitcher's mother-in-law were the first P-TA presidents in San Rafael's history.

After an explanation from Bill Vernon, member of the San Rafael Board of Education, on the three ballot issues affecting school bonds and taxes, Mrs. Thomas Cardoza presented the award for the Honorary Life Membership to Mrs. Dorothy Blackford, secretary at West End School who has made herself indispensable to the teachers and children, and parents as well.

Smith President To Be Speaker At Two Events In Bay Area

Thomas Corwin Mendenhall, President of Smith College and distinguished author and educator, will arrive in San Francisco on Mar. 15 and will be the featured speaker at luncheon and evening events planned in his honor by the Smith College Clubs of the Bay Area. His two-day visit will be climaxed by a black-tie dinner on March 16, at 7:30 p.m., in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

Mendenhall, President of Smith College since July 1, 1959, had previously been Associate Professor of History at Yale University, and Master of Berkeley College there. He has said his aim as a teacher is "to exercise the student's mind . . . Too much of our teaching stresses content. It relays to the undergraduate vast amounts of material . . . but the student tends to memorize the subject rather than master it."

In 1953, Mendenhall was

member of an eight man committee, headed by President Griswold of Yale, that proposed major revisions of the first two years of the undergraduate curriculum, which gained nationwide notice among college educators. At Yale he had also served as Director of the Office of Teacher Training and directed a joint program whereby undergraduates of Yale, Smith and Vassar enrolled in a two-year course of study in the Yale Graduate School, to prepare them for teaching.

On March 16, the formal dinner at which President Mendenhall will be guest speaker, will be presented by the four Smith College Clubs of the Bay Area. Mrs. Henry H. Brigham is chairman of this event, and Smith College alumnae, their families, interested friends, as well as prospective students and their parents, are invited to attend. Mrs. Charles S. Bullock Jr., President of the Smith College Club of San Francisco, is in charge of ticket arrangements.

Mrs. George Lindahl is president of the Marin Club.

The bride is the former Sherry Rose McKamey of Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Donegan of San Anselmo are the bridegroom's parents.

P-TA Librarians Sponsor Talk By Mrs. E. S. Durham

"As a house is not a home, a collection of books is not a library," was the theme of Mrs. Edwin S. Durham's recent talk before Mill Valley school personnel, volunteer librarians and parents at Park School in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Durham, who was children's librarian in the New York City Public Library and is now a lecturer in the school of librarianship at the University of California, made a strong plea for a school library program in the Mill Valley School District under the direction of a professionally trained librarian.

The speaker outlined the many contributions librarians can make in helping students and ways in which the library benefits an entire school program.

During the question period it was pointed out that P-TA librarians have been used because the Mill Valley School District has no funds to hire professionally trained ones.

As a solution to this problem Mrs. Durham suggested hiring one librarian for the six elementary schools, who would be able to draw up a master plan for a uniform library system throughout the district. An alternative, she said, would be to hire a part-time consultant to help plan the library program.

Mrs. Durham's talk was sponsored by the P-TA library chairmen in cooperation with Asst. Supt. of Schools Dr. Logan Miles.

Marin Chapter of B'nai B'rith sent four women to attend the sessions. These representatives included Mrs. Morris Thau, of Kentfield, right, representing Marin B'nai B'rith Chapter, and the Mesdames Philander Beadle, Harry Harris and Fred Weilen, all of San Rafael, representing Marin Chapter Hadassah. ## Scout Troops Enjoy Cooking, Ski Weekend And Skating

"Ross Dumyat, Tamiya, Salatah, Maamoul and Sha" may not be "lunch" to you, but to the second grade Brownies of Mill Valley Troop 56, it tasted like lunch — straight from Egypt!

Studying this country for the Mill Valley Neighborhood International Fair, the girls went further than most troops by getting the recipes, cooking and eating a real Egyptian meal. Their leader is Mrs. D. M. McKelvy. (What they ate was chicken giblet rice, balls of beans, salad, filled cakes and tea.)

Mariner Ship 132 recently invited Wing Scout Squadron 44 and Mill Valley Explorer Post 34 to join them for a weekend in the snow. They stayed at Laing's Pioneer Camp at Emigrant Gap, and spent their time skiing and tobogganing, with a few snowball fights thrown in. They gathered around the fire in the Lodge in the evening for games and singing. Chaperoning the group were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schoff, Jack Little, and Mesdames Robert Laufer, James Laufer and Kenneth Brown.

"Friendship" was the theme of the party given by the 25 members of Marinwood Brownie Troop 289 for the Busy Bee Blue Birds from Northridge. The two fourth grade groups explained the different requirements they will fulfill during the next few months as they ready themselves to become Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, and then enjoyed singing and playing games together. The leaders of Troop 289 are Mesdames Frank Furtado, Stanley Jacobs, Fred Horton and John Yocom, and the Busy Bee's leaders are Mesdames Stanley Hamilton and Richard Murphy.

Brownies from Fairfax Troop 28, and San Anselmo Troops 141 and 160 found they spent quite a bit of time "sitting" on the ice at the beginning of their skating party when they took over the Raydine Ice Rink on a recent Saturday night. After an ice skating lesson, however, they spent the rest of the evening on their feet! Even their leaders Mesdames W. K. McLellan, J. K. Miller, R. E. McLaren, Warner Bayley, R. H. Pryor and E. K. Sibbald, joined them on the ice.

Today is Tuesday, March 8, the 68th day of the year, with 298 more days in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1841, the foremost American jurist of his time and justice of the United States Supreme Court, Oliver Wendell Holmes, was born.

In 1855, the first bridge was built over the Niagara River to connect U. S. and Canadian railroads.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring dogs to be licensed.

In 1917, strikes and riots in St. Petersburg marked the beginning of the Russian revolution.

A thought for today: American jurist Oliver Wendell Holmes said: "Learn the sweet magic of a cheerful face; not always smiling, but at least serene."

Isn't There An Alternative To The Death Penalty?

Tomorrow a Senate committee will hold a hearing on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal to abolish capital punishment. There are few persons, including the governor himself, who will predict the measure has more than an outside chance of passing this year.

There is no doubt that the Chessman case has created an exceedingly poor environment for serious consideration of the subject. This undoubtedly is one of the main reasons it has such small chance for passage.

However, it seems to us there is another reason. Even persons who deplore taking another's life have backed the death penalty because they have been offered no alternative. Persons who want the gas chamber abolished merely call for its end. They make no suggestion of a better way or a better method of ultimate justice.

This leaves people who believe, or who even have a feeling that there is some deterrent force in the death penalty with nothing to take its place. Some remember the wave of kidnappings, several resulting in death, which swept the United States just before the Lindbergh case. Then when the Lindbergh Law was passed, making the offense punishable by death, the wave stopped — immediately. Certainly it had some deterrent effect in that instance.

Why don't advocates of abolition of the death penalty propose something to still this fear by a sizeable portion of the population, the fear of even one murder which might have been deterred? Couldn't there be some proposal for tightening law enforcement, for increasing the certainty of punishment, for assuring that a life sentence doesn't mean 10 or 11 years in prison and then freedom, for speeding up the business of justice.

We don't know exactly what such proposals could or should be. But it disturbs us that there never, from any source, is any suggestion of means to assure people that when a murder does occur, the murderer will never again be allowed to kill.

We can't believe that all people who favor the death penalty are blood-thirsty, vengeful men and women. Mostly they are scared, scared that someone they love might become a victim, and concerned over those who already have become victims.

Can't someone come up with a suggestion or a plan which will help these people to see that executing the murderers may not be the only way to protect the public?

When such a program is proposed, we predict most of the opposition to abolition of capital punishment will evaporate.

BANDITS GET WRONG BAG

Four bandits got a real surprise in St. Louis, Mo., when they robbed the owner of a market.

Surrounding his car, one of them brusquely ordered: "Give us the sack!" They thought that it contained the day's receipts.

Their victim promptly handed over the only sack he had with him. In it were four sandwiches, a bottle of hair oil and some underwear.

Those who make robbery their business encounter numerous disappointments in addition to leading an ulcerous existence.

Remember that honesty is a virtue please.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

For Real Producer, Fine Fellow, Look To Guy With Cluttered Desk

NEW YORK (AP) — The great American dream today is to have two of everything.

You aren't a success unless you have twin beds in your bedroom, at least two baths in your house, and a two-car garage.

There are probably fellows now who even dream fondly of a splendid future in which they can afford a two-wife home.

Mine, however, is a simpler dream. All I pine for is a simple two-desk office. One desk is to work on — the other desk is simply to let things pile up on.

One desk is to please the boss. The other desk is to please me.

I get this feeling particularly about this period of the year, for now is the time when across the land thousands of memo-pad Neros and file cabinet Caligulas issue a stern edict:

"This office is getting to look like the city dump again. Everybody clean off his desk by Friday — or else."

These ten-penny tycoons never say what the "or else" means. But the implied threat is that if you don't instantly make your desk look as clean as a baptismal font you will be strung up by your thumbs, drummed out of the regiment, or ridden out of the office on a rail.

Actually, a clean desk is no true indication of either efficiency or real mental order. It is only a sign of conformity on the part of the desk's occupant. He hasn't cleared his desk for action. He has merely hidden the rubble where the boss can't see it.

Look around you in your own office. Aren't the men ing to both God and man. On top of that it costs far less effort and spares one the endless anxiety that is the lot of those who defy justice.

Someone once said: "Honest men fear neither the light nor the dark." The honest man has a guarantee of peace of heart, mind and soul in this life and in the next.

"The Lord will reward me according to my justice; and will repay me according to the cleanness of my hands."

(Psalm 17:21)

Instill in me, O Holy Spirit, a determination to be honest under all circumstances.

with the neatest desks also the most neurotic employees in the place? Don't they also include most of the hypochondriacs, the chronic false-ulcer victims, and the fear-ridden decision dodgers?

IT IS ALSO a business truism that most embezzlers — and potential embezzlers — are fastidious about their desks. In their case the neat desk is the sign of a guilty mind.

On the other hand, show me a man who keeps a cluttered desk and I'll show you one of nature's noblemen — one who takes joy in his work, is gentle with his children, raises not his voice against his wife, and never, never, never kicks his dog around.

A CLEAN DESK looks fine in a kindergarten. A clean desk in an office hides more from the boss than it tells him.

A smart boss is suspicious — or should be — of an employee who spends too much time polishing apples, his desk or his fingernails.

'YEAH—BUT SUPPOSE HE'S A COMMUNIST'

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Miller Discusses San Rafael Canal

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

Your Feb. 12 editorial headed "Need Pressure on Congress to Force Channel Dredging" is most timely. As a public expression of local concern about the unsafe, silted-in condition of San Rafael Creek and the need for maintenance dredging, it has needed saying for some time.

You say, "It looks as though nothing is going to happen until the people of the county put enough pressure on our representatives in Congress to bring pressure on the Army Engineers to do the job they should be doing."

I would appreciate the courtesy of your columns to comment on the problem represented by San Rafael Creek — as it appears, in perspective, to me.

I suggest that responsibility is shared by at least six "pressure points" — rather than only by Marin's two U.S. senators, one member of Congress and the Army Engineers.

1. The agency — the Corps of Engineers — is responsible for maintenance according to project standards — TO THE EXTENT THAT FUNDS ARE MADE AVAILABLE. We can be sure that, in the first instance, the Corps (like any other governmental or corporate agency) recommended to the Secretary of the Army and to the President that they request enough money to let the Corps do its job.

2. The President and his Budget Bureau have a responsibility to ask Congress for the money. As you noted, the President's current budget request to Congress does not include funds sufficient to permit the Corps to dredge San Rafael Creek, nor have his budgets since 1954.

Each year the Budget Bureau (which prepares the President's budget) hacks the Corps' requests for maintenance back to the bone and beyond.

3. Congress shares the responsibility. The congressman has a responsibility to express local needs at the congressional level. Congress appropriates the money. I might note that the President, also, plays a legislative role. The President, with one-third of the House and Senate concurring, prevails. This was the case with the Public Works Appropriations Bill last year; it was vetoed twice. Congress is understandably wary of challenge to the President and his Budget Bureau.

4. The responsibility must be shared by the state government. On flood control and other water development needs, we Californians — through the California Water Commission and the governor — present a united front to Congress. In effect, we first agree among ourselves upon statewide priorities. This results in California receiving its fair share of available federal funds. But when it comes to federal funds for navigation improvement, every California harbor competes against every other. There is a tendency to cancel out.

Although a start was made last year by the State Small Craft Harbors Commission, there is no united front because most spokesmen for our large, deep-water ports do not understand the advantages to all of California.

5. The local people who use the project and local public officials have a responsibility to demonstrate local interest and local needs. Your editorial is a valuable contribution in this respect.

(Last year — prior to time for public works appropriations testimony — I did not receive a single recommendation or request from any person or group — public or private — in Marin concerning San Rafael Creek. Previously, I had reported to the appropriate local persons the fact that the President's budget had ignored San Rafael.

(Later in the year, I received five useful letters from interested local citizens. As a consequence, last November my presentation to the Budget Bureau recommended that the budget include $185,000 to permit the Corps to dredge at San Rafael in fiscal 1961.

I shall again assign a top priority to San Rafael Creek in my House and Senate appropriations testimony in April. I hope the Congress will do what the Administration has failed to do. If this very much uphill effort is to be successful, I and your other representatives here will need evidence of strong and unified local support, as well as specific, up-to-date experience data as to groundings, shoaling, etc.

(Incidentally, according to the latest — 1959 — data I have, mean low water depth at the canal entrance is 5 feet, where project standards call for 8. And upstream channel depth is 3½ feet, where the project calls for 6. This discrepancy is typical of our small navigation projects across the country.)

6. Finally, I suggest that the public has a responsibility. Frankly, we must decide whether we want safe waterways enough to pay for them.

I can't help feeling amused at those — including many chambers of commerce, newspapers and politicians — who shout "pork barrel" and "inflation" as they condemn national water and navigation development programs and applaud presidential vetoes while — at the same time, out of the other side of their mouths — they call for "pressure" on behalf of local projects.

I submit we can't have it both ways. Here is a case where the "trickle-down" principle operates.

To give some idea of the scope of the national problem, the Corps' backlog of overdue, deferred and current maintenance carries a price tag on the order of $255 million. The President's budget requests $125 million — less than half the amount required to keep this portion of our public plant from deteriorating further.

In attempting to allocate its insufficient funds, the Corps uses this system of priorities: First, the larger, deep-draft commercial harbor used primarily for interstate and international commerce; second, shallow-draft commercial harbors; third, shallow-draft waterways and harbors used primarily for recreational boating. San Rafael Creek, where commerce is only about 90,000 tons annually, is in the third category. (I happen to believe it is poor policy that a dollar of tax revenue generated by "recreation" traffic is somehow worth less than a dollar of tax revenue generated by regular "commercial" traffic. And I'm trying to do something about it. But that's another story.)

I think it should also be understood that individual maintenance projects like San Rafael's are not "line items" in the budget or appropriation bills. Rather, these funds are budgeted and appropriated as lump sums. Allocation is made administratively by the Corps — according to priorities previously mentioned. When there is not enough to repair deteriorating physical structures in our larger harbors, the smaller harbors are fortunate to get crumbs.

The President's budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 asks $41.3 million for harbor dredging around the country. The Corps' San Francisco District (36 California counties) share is $2.27 million. These sums have not increased materially for a decade, despite increasing costs generally.

This means shameful neglect of federal responsibilities at our smaller harbors, at Napa, Bodega Bay, Noyo and Bolinas as well as at San Rafael. It is true of the other "San Rafael creeks" around the country.

What CAN be done? We should, first of all, decide whether we want well developed and maintained harbors. If we do, we in Marin have got to stop calling Noyo Harbor "pork barrel" and Noyo's supporters must stop labeling San Rafael the same. If we want this service and want to pay for it, we should keep on the pressure all along the line.

I believe we should accept the fact that a firm public water and harbor development base is essential to a prosperous private enterprise economy.

(The responsible agency for a project like San Rafael Creek need not, of course, be federal — provided local or state governments will accept responsibility. At San Rafael Creek, incidentally, $417,179 of federal taxpayers' money has been spent for maintenance since the project was completed in the early Thirties; local and state governments have spent nothing for maintenance.

If we do assign this project to the federal government, and we do want it in working condition, then members of Congress must be willing to endure the jibe of "spender" and act responsibly to insure that the part of our public responsibility is met. Until this happens, we are going to continue to have strangled San Rafael creeks across the Nation.

Elections Have Issues This Year And Deserve Everyone's Participation

Number one issue in Marin's supervisory campaign this year apparently will be the multi-million-dollar county civic center designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

If Supervisor Vera Schultz chooses to run again, she's going to have a rough go on the civic center issue with J. Walter Blair, who hopes to unseat her. In announcing his candidacy, the self-service laundry executive came up with a sizzling statement branding the supervisors' decision to build the center a "cynical flouting" of the people's will.

Supervisor William D. Fuselman, only board member to challenge the county project, may find himself opposed this year by someone who favors it. This reverse situation, if it comes to pass, may be provided by a Greenbrae insurance broker, Harvey W. Killian.

Killian has been quietly making the rounds of late, handing Ross Valley residents a card describing himself as "prospective candidate, supervisor, Marin County."

Among other things, the card says: "I am for . . . the Marin County Government Concourse (Frank Lloyd Wright, architect)."

Killian's card declares he is also "for (1) the greatest number of people, (2) the most abundant good, and (3) the longest duration for all mankind."

SPEAKING of candidates, the Larkspur City Council chamber was crowded with them last Wednesday night. Of the nine aspirants for councilman in the April 12 election, eight were present.

The three incumbents who are seeking re-election —

Mayor Daniel Allen, Orrin W. Gray and Albert E. Heston — gazed down on the intent faces of five who hope to replace them: James Lienkaemper, David McDougall, Lesly Daveler, Mrs. James Epidendio and Charles Schneider. Only candidate not present was Paul Keever.

Of the five in the audience, only Schneider remained silent, but he told this reporter there was "plenty I could say if I felt like it."

Larkspur's council election, with the city manager form of government and the status of ex-Fire Chief John Raggio as prime issues, promises to be one of the hottest in the city's 52-year history.

ISSUES ARE what make government interesting, and County Administrator Donald A. Jensen is one who believes more citizens should know what they are.

Jensen said so recently as guest columnist for "District Doings," monthly publication of Tamalpais Union High School District.

"Every educator and student," he wrote, "should be encouraged to 'get into the fight' on current local issues. Grass roots government is the foundation of the United States of America. Its strength lies in an active informed public which presents both sides to each issue. Progress comes about through controversy, investigation and participation."

Added Jensen: "The more people who decide they are 'for' or 'against' something, the better government we will have. No public official can be 'too busy' to hear an opinion from his bosses — the people. . . . The government in your community of Marin is YOU!"

Television Monopoly Can't Be Compared To Newspaper Situation

WASHINGTON — Recently the president of CBS, Frank Stanton, made a speech arguing that in principle the government, which grants the licenses, has no right to concern itself in any way with the character of the broadcasts. He calls this "free television" and asserts that all forms of regulation and accountability are wrong. What the country must have is "a vigorous, freely competing, unrestricted television medium."

This is probably the first time that anyone in a responsible position in the television industry has claimed for it an unrestricted right to set its own standards of conduct. This is certainly not the intent of the law under which Stanton operates.

THE INTENT of the law which was passed by Congress in February 1927, was expressed, as George Sokolsky recently noted, by ex-President Herbert Hoover, then the secretary of commerce. Hoover said that "the ether is a public medium, and its use must be for public benefit. The use of a radio channel is justified only if there is public benefit."

Stanton would, I suppose, say in reply that the greatest public benefit will come if we leave it to the unrestricted judgment of the industry itself what programs are in the public interest. To support this position Stanton argues that television stations are like newspapers.

THIS IS A THOROUGHLY false argument. A television station is not like a newspaper. It is like a printing press. It is a mechanical medium of communication.

Now, let us suppose that in a whole region around some city there were only, let us say, three printing presses. They would have to print all the newspapers, all the magazines, all the books, there being no other way to get anything printed. Does Stanton imagine that under such a condition of virtual monopoly, there would be no public regulation of the printing presses?

There is an essential and radical difference between television and printing, and Stanton should not pretend that they can be or should be treated alike.

It may be true, as he says, that "most metropolitan centers in the United States have more competing television stations than competing mass circulation dailies."

But Stanton has missed the point. The three or four competing television stations control virtually all that can be received over the air by ordinary television sets. But beside the mass circulation dailies, there are the weeklies, the monthlies, the out-of-town newspapers and books.

IT IS NOT IDEAL. But it is infinitely better than the situation in television. There, if a man does not like what the networks offer him, all he can do is to turn them off, and listen to a phonograph.

Networks which are few in number, have a virtual monopoly of a whole medium of communication. The newspapers of mass circulation have no monopoly of the medium of print. The situation being so different, the application is bound to be different too.

Misuse Of Drug Capsules Serious Matter Among Teen-Age Hoodlums

Ever hear of "popping the rainbow?" Probably not. It's gang slang for taking several different dangerous drug capsules at once.

The kids who "pop the rainbow" really get lit up. Good teen-agers don't try it. Hoodlums do.

One boy took both benzadrine and seconal. Benzadrine is a stimulant and seconal a sedative. He went crazy. He got a butcher's knife from his mother's kitchen and, hiding it in his sleeve, ran to his girl's school. He went straight to her classroom and tried to cut her. It took the teacher and five strong boys to stop him and hold him down.

When the drugs wore off he cried. He said he really loved the girl. He didn't know what possessed him.

Another who "popped the rainbow" got into a neighbor's car and drove up and down sidewalks and across lawns. Cops took after him. He wove through town at 100 miles an hour. He tried to cross a busy highway at a crowded intersection. The red light was on. He crashed into another car. Three people were killed, and several badly injured. The boy died, too.

Every large city has "pushers" who sell rainbow capsules. Some of them also sell marijuana and heroin.

In many small towns the men who run the cheapest service stations peddle capsules. They also sell contraceptives and bootleg liquor.

A few of the kids who "pop the rainbow" don't have to buy the stuff. They steal it from their parents' medicine cupboards, because each capsule has a legitimate medical use.

Experts tell me that not one teen-ager in 10,000 is seriously threatened by narcotic drugs. But they say several dozen per thousand are threatened by the rainbow capsules. They say we need much stronger laws against them. I agree.

READERS' FORUM
(Q) "My 11-year-old daughter is interested in boys. She acts like a teen-ager. Is she developing too early?" —L.L.R.
(A) Probably not. Many 11-year-olds have crushes on boys. Girls develop faster than boys. In America each new generation seems to mature earlier than the one before it.

More Curbs Urged On Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (UP) — As things stand now, almost any 500 neighborly minded citizens of California can band together, incorporate and call themselves a city.

There are some restrictions: They have to live in the same area although there's no restriction on the area's size, and they can't do it if they're in a city that already exists.

But the Governor's Commission on Metropolitan Area Problems, which held a three-day conference here recently, would like to see a few more restrictions in the state's law books.

Commission Chairman Roy Sorenson said, "There ought to be some minimum conditions that guarantee a good city, like standards of population density and proof that the city can furnish needed services."

As an example of things the commission would like to prevent, Sorenson cited the town of Industry in Los Angeles County, which he said was formed by "special interests" and was really nothing more than "a little strip on both sides of a railroad track."

The trouble, Sorenson pointed out, is that many of the 77 cities that have incorporated in the past 15 years are in huge metropolitan areas, which need unity of government rather than division.

He said the commission was attempting to find proposals for Gov. Edmund G. Brown that would stop "this fragmentation in metropolitan areas." And he reported that the governor wanted those proposals in time for introduction to the 1961 Legislature.

Sorenson said that the commission had not come up with any definite proposals during its meeting here.

"We're just getting the stuff under our belts," he said of testimony from nine experts who appeared.

Most of the experts indicated their approval of a new unit of government for the state. Bigger than cities or counties, it could be called a "metropolitan district corporation."

Sorenson counted five metropolitan areas in the state over which such a corporation might rule: Los Angeles, the San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego, Sacramento and Fresno.

In addition, there are four areas growing so rapidly that they might soon be classed as "metropolitan." He said they are Orange and San Bernardino Counties, Santa Barbara County and the cities of Bakersfield and Fresno.

But despite the experts' approval of a new type of government, the commissioners were more anxious to see how the present system could be strengthened.

"There was a reluctance to go dreaming on ahead at least until we explore the possibilities of existing units," Sorenson said.

One of the experts was Winston W. Crouch of the bureau of governmental research at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"I'm a great believer in home rule," he said, "but where you get several home rulers operating in the same area, you get problems."

In Los Angeles County, he said, the City of Los Angeles wanted to furnish rubbish dumping sites for its residents. One of the sites lay in the city of Monterey Park, which promptly annexed the site to keep Los Angeles from dumping rubbish there.

"Everybody wants to dump rubbish," Crouch said, "but they all want to dump it on someone else."

Bad Check Passer Sent To Prison

Frank A. Klotz, 54, of Sausalito, laundry equipment installer, must serve from 0 to 14 years in state prison for passing a series of worthless checks last October.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court yesterday denied probation after checking Klotz's past record. The judge noted that Klotz has spent almost five years in various county jails for past offenses.

Klotz was arrested last Dec. 18. Sheriff's inspectors said he had passed eight checks in various parts of the county between Oct. 3 and Oct. 17 last year for a total of $388.

Horse Census Counts 267,326 In California

SACRAMENTO (UP) — Looking for a horse to ride?

Your chances of finding one are fairly good in California, according to a survey of "pleasure horses just completed by the California Outdoor Recreation Committee.

The survey, which took about two months to complete, counted 267,326 horses for California's around 15 million persons to ride.

It was a tough job—almost as hard as people counting, which is being done this year by the U.S. Census Bureau.

"We spent about 7,885 man hours counting the horses used for pleasure in California," said Don Lawyer, a state recreation planner.

How was it done?

The committee asked for help from two horsemen's organizations: The California State Horsemen's Assn. and Equestrian Trails, Inc. About 5,000 members of the two organizations participated.

Lawyer was particularly thankful for the help of James Hester of El Monte, who helped get an airplane to count horses in outlying areas of San Bernardino County.

The count was made by setting up a small-scale census bureau at Sacramento and organizing county committees of members from the horsemen's organization to make the local counts. Teams of two or three horsemen actually made physical inventories of all pleasure riding horses in their section.

Only the pleasure horses were counted whether they were owned by one individual for his own riding or rented by stables. The committee did not count show horses, racing stock or work horses.

But survey members did count a work horse if he also was used for riding.

Most Drivers Don't Keep Eyes Peeled, Says Expert

WASHINGTON (UP)—A safety expert says only three out of 100 Americans are really safe drivers in traffic because most people don't watch what's happening properly.

Harold L. Smith, a driver training consultant for the Ford Motor Co., told a fleet of safety directors, however, that the other 97 out of every 100 drivers could learn to operate their vehicles safely.

Smith suggested five rules for better "seeing" at the wheel. They included:

1. Glance well ahead at the center of your intended lane and, at night, well ahead of your headlight beams.

2. Sweep your eyes over the big scene to sense the movement of objects in relation to the ground.

3. Keep your eyes moving, preventing concentration on a single hazard. Move your eyes every two seconds and check the rear view mirror every five seconds when driving in traffic.

4. Adjust your speed to allow a stopping margin and an open space on at least one side.

5. Make sure you are seen by tapping your horn or flicking your headlight beams to warn of your approach. Make sure through the rear view mirror that the driver behind you has seen your turn or stop signal.

Special License Plates Urged

SACRAMENTO (UP) — Small vehicles used for commercial purposes would qualify for special license plates under a bill introduced yesterday by Assemblyman George E. Brown Jr. (D-Monterey Park).

The measure would lower the weight for commercial plates from 3,000 to 2,000 pounds and prescribe a special $10 fee. The regular fee for the heavier vehicles is $14.

Brown said a number of businesses which use the smaller foreign trucks for delivery requested the legislation to qualify them for the special plates which permit parking in special loading zones.

Novel Show To Educate On Cancer

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Whether it's called keong in Chinese, kyofu in Japanese, medo in Portuguese, miedo in Spanish or fear in English, it's a harmful emotion.

Doctors say fear of cancer causes thousands of needless deaths. Their dread keeps victims from the examinations and treatment which could save them.

So the local branch of the American Cancer Society has come up with a novel idea of fighting fear in five languages.

The society has hired a big hall at the State Fairgrounds for a three-day exhibit—April 1-3—aimed at educating visitors to the basic danger signals of cancer.

To overcome the reluctance those unfamiliar with English might have to asking questions at the exhibit, the society will have Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese and Spanish interpreters on hand to answer questions and pass out literature printed in the other languages as well as in English.

Theater Workshop To Be Organized For Twin Cities

A theater workshop will be organized by the newly formed Larkspur-Corte Madera Little theater group at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Eastman Hall, Larkspur.

On March 16, tryouts will be held for "One in Every Family," a three-act comedy by Mrs. M. J. Simon of Corte Madera, president of the group. It will be the organization's first production.

Mrs. Simon, who lives at 21 Lakeside drive, has asked interested persons to call her for further information. She said more men are needed for the little theater, a project of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation Commission.

Other officers are Mrs. John Fraser, vice president; Mrs. Herbert Pilcher, secretary-treasurer; Ralph White, general director; Mrs. Gerald Cuff, business manager; Col. and Mrs. Stephen Monroe, publicity co-chairmen, and H. Lin Hinkle, member-at-large.

The group has decided to meet in Eastman Hall every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

THEY MET AT WEDDING

Marin Pair Observes Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Hillers of San Anselmo met in San Francisco at a family wedding when she was 12 and he was 15.

They were married six years later—and last Tuesday they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were honored at a reception and dinner Feb. 28 at the Belvedere home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ongaro. More than 100 guests attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillers have lived in Marin County about 12 years. They lived in Ross before moving to their present home at 839 Sir Francis Drake boulevard. They are former residents of San Francisco, where Hillers operated a meat market for some 50 years.

Hillers is a 50 year member of the Native Sons of the Golden West in San Francisco and member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club. He works part-time "to keep active" at the Model Market in San Anselmo.

At the anniversary celebration the couple cut a three-tiered wedding cake with a gold handled cake knife, engraved with their initials and wedding date, a gift from their family. A number of out-of-town guests were present.

The Hillers' grandchildren,

Joins Glee Club

Richard Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rowe of 5 Windsor avenue, San Rafael, has been selected for membership in the Men's Glee Club at the University of California, Berkeley. He is a 1959 graduate of San Rafael High School, and a freshman at the university.

John J. Ongaro Jr. of Ross, with Mrs. Ongaro, and Miss Gloria Ongaro, a student at Occidental College, Los Angeles, were present, as well as a great-granddaughter, Sandra Marie Ongaro of Ross. Another grandchild, Lt. (j.g.) C. H. Ongaro of San Diego, and his wife, were unable to attend.

Said Hillers: "We've had little arguments like everyone else, but we're still happy." The secret, he maintains, is just to "give in to each other."

Signup Meeting Slated For Cubs

A new charter reorganizing Cub Scout Pack 14 of San Geronimo Valley has been drawn up and a "signup meeting" will be held at 8 p.m. today at the San Geronimo Community Building for parents of cub-age boys.

J. K. Miller of Fairfax, neighborhood commissioner, who spoke at a reorganization meeting last week at the Frank Woodward home in Forest Knolls, will explain the proposed program.

John W. Cronk of San Geronimo will be new scoutmaster of reorganized Boy Scout Patrol 14.

Fall Injures Woman

Mrs. Lillian Boatman of House 633, Marin City, fell and fractured her left wrist in the Sequoia theater in Mill Valley Sunday afternoon. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

LEADING CLOTHING MANUFACTURER Recommends SANITONE Dry Cleaning

For the first time in dry cleaning history a major clothing manufacturer recommends a specific dry cleaning process for their garments.

All Weatherlane suits, tailored by Handmacher-Vogel, Inc., world's largest maker of suits, will carry string tags, recommending that the suit be Sanitone Dry Cleaned "to keep the original shape, texture and freshness of the suit."

Mr. Handmacher, company president, said that he decided to use the tags "only after exhaustive tests proved to my complete satisfaction that the Sanitone Process did these things."

OUR SANITONE DRY CLEANING keeps you looking wonderful all the time

Our Sanitone Soft-Set® Dry Cleaning does more than get garments thoroughly clean. It actually restores the original look and feel to the fabric. Colors glow. Patterns sparkle. And your clothes always come back as soft and fresh as the day you bought them.

We invite you to compare our Sanitone Service with any other dry cleaning to prove that you can really see and feel the difference.
